Cease-Fire For Cambodia And Laos Is Sought

Military Men Of Indochina War Seek Agreement

GENEVA, June 19 (AP)—East and West agreed tonight that Communist and anti-Communist military leaders of the Indochina war should begin talks at once toward a cease-fire in Laos and Cambodia.

These would parallel or be merged with discussions on for two weeks now between representatives of the French Union and Red Vietnam high commands toward a cease-fire for Viet Nam. Viet Nam has seen the most fighting of all three of the French Union's Associated States of Indochina.

The agreement came in an extraordinary Saturday night session of the eight-week-old, nine-party Indochina conference, held on the eve of the departure of top U. S., British and Soviet delegates.

The conference, said a communiqué from the closed-door session, decided to meet again Tuesday. It asked the military negotiators on all three Indochina states to report in 21 days.

Walter Bedell Smith, U. S. under-secretary of state, and Anthony Eden, British foreign secretary, earlier announced that they were leaving for home tonight, with their return uncertain.

V. M. Molotov, Soviet foreign minister, left for Moscow five minutes past midnight Saturday. He and others, apparently a large part of his delegation, took off in five planes. Deputy Foreign Minister Andrei Gromyko was left in charge at Geneva.

A delegation spokesman said Chou En-lai, Chinese Communist premier-foreign minister also would depart very soon—he would not say just when.

Eden, who had a final meeting with Molotov tonight, was reported to regard tonight's agreement as a real step forward. Smith was understood to have expressed some doubts of particular points in it.

Russia Gains On United States In Armaments Race

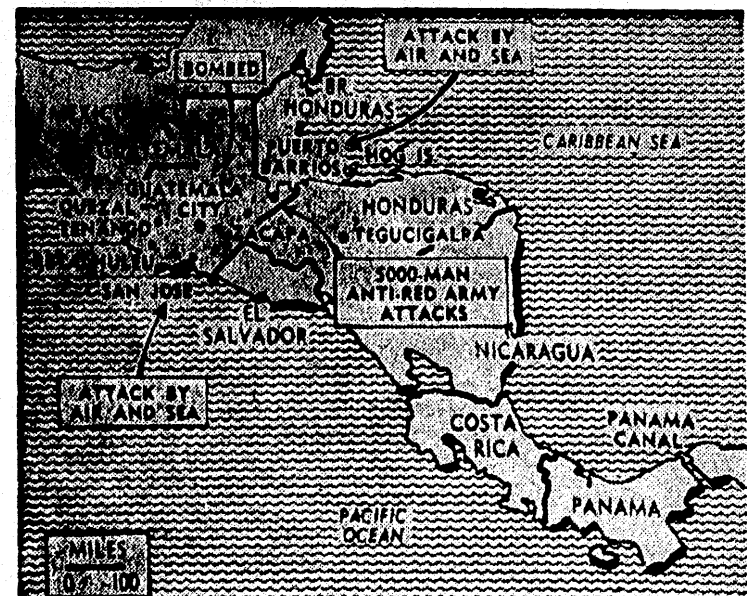

QUANTICO, Va., June 19 (AP)—The nation's military high command was given disturbing word today that Soviet Russia is moving closer to the United States in the great arms race of the atomic age. Donald A. Quarles, assistant secretary of defense for research, made this view clear in addressing the defense chiefs at their annual meeting here when he said America's weapons technology position today is "less favorable than it was a year ago."

Quarles spoke at a morning business session of the four-day conference shortly before the arrival at Quantico of President Eisenhower. The commander-in-chief spoke briefly and informally at a luncheon of the conferees, but what he talked about was not disclosed.

The conference of 160 defense and service secretaries and military commanders was called for discussion of routine management and strategy matters. But even while the defense chiefs were meeting there were new and significant developments abroad, including the uprising in Guatemala against the Red-tinged government there.

The military conferees received reports of the move with obviously pleased but unofficial reaction. Anything to remove the threat of communism from the Western Hemisphere, and particularly from geographical proximity to the U. S.-owned Panama Canal, was good news for the defense chiefs.

When President Eisenhower, accompanied by Vice President Nixon, arrived at this big Marine base at midday he was greeted outside (Continued On Fifth Page)

ARMY OF LIBERATION—Newsmag indicates where an anti-Communist "army of liberation," under command of Col. Carlos Castillo Armas, is striking at Guatemala. Guatemala City has been bombed, and principal ports of Puerto Barrios and San Jose, where vital gasoline reserves are stored, are said to have been attacked by sea and air, and the important rail city of Zacapa is said to have fallen to the insurgents.

Howard Defeated For Jaycee Post By Close Vote

COLORADO SPRINGS, Colo., June 19 (AP)—It took five ballots and a record-setting 13 hours of voting before E. Lamar Buckner, 32, Ogden, Utah, insurance man, was elected president of the United States Junior Chamber of Commerce today.

Buckner got 1,174 votes, seven more than he needed for a majority, and only 28 more than were cast for W. L. (Jack) Howard, 35, of Monroe, La.

The third candidate, J. Kirk Newell of Swampscott, Mass., lost out in an earlier round and wound up with 12 votes.

The national board and executive committee will meet in August to select next year's convention city.

Rocky Mount, N. C., was named winner of the Harold A. Marks memorial award today as the outstanding Jaycee chapter in the United States.

The Clayton Frost memorial award, presented annually to the five outstanding Jaycee presidents in the U. S., Alaska and Hawaii for outstanding leadership, went to John King of Springfield, Ill., Wendell Maxfield of Kaysville, Utah, Ed May of Hartford, Conn., Howard Norris of Madison, Wis., and Frank Pasquerella of Johnstown, Pa.

Officer Arrested At Winnsboro On Assault Charge

WINNSBORO, La., June 19 (Special)—Assistant Town Marshal Frank Short has been arrested by sheriff's deputies and charged with assault and battery on a minor, according to a warrant on file at the clerk's office.

The alleged violation occurred Thursday.

Short, who was hired May 1, was released on $750 bond.

He is accused, specifically, of assaulting Clarence G. Sikes, 18, of Winnsboro. The warrant for Short's arrest was issued at the request of Sikes' mother, Mrs. O. Jewell.

Blackie Burt, owner of a service station where Sikes was employed, said Short cursed and attacked Sikes at the service station. Lynn McCoy, night manager of the station, reportedly witnessed the incident.

Town Clerk Roy Montgomery, said Short returned to his duties as assistant town marshal after being released under bond.

MOSCOW, June 19 (UP)—Pravda Saturday adopted a "wait and see" attitude toward the new French government stressing that Premier Pierre Mendes-France won confirmation "precisely because he proclaimed establishment of peace in Indo-China as the primary task."

Liberation Of Nation In Few Days Predicted

Rebels Declare Resistance So Far Very Light

TEGUCIGALPA, Honduras, June 19 (AP)—Anti-Communist chiefs announced tonight they are encountering only feeble resistance on their invasion of Guatemala and said they expected to win over the whole country in a few days.

Leaders of the "liberation army" of Col. Carlos Castillo Armas said their forces had penetrated up to 25 miles inside Guatemala in their march on the capital city and, "The people of Guatemala are arising to our cause."

An invasion headquarters had been set up at the Honduran town of Copan, four miles from Guatemala's border.

Four of the top leaders, including the liberation army's chief of information, Manuel Orellana Portillo, participated in the briefing of reporters there.

"Only sporadic scraps" with Guatemalan army forces were being fought, Orellana Portillo said. He added that at many places Guatemalan border guards had been withdrawn, leaving the frontier virtually undefended.

Earlier, the anti-Communist forces had reported the capture of Guatemala's two chief ports, the shipping center of Puerto Barrios on the east coast, and San Jose, an air and naval base on the west coast. This claim was disputed by the Guatemalan government.

The rebels said two other inland towns, Zacapa, a dairy center near the Honduran border, and Retalhuleu in the opposite corner, near the Mexican border, might well be in rebel hands though they made no precise claim.

On the diplomatic front, the leftist Guatemalan regime of President Jacobo Arbenz Guzman appeared for an urgent weekend meeting of the United Nations Security Council in New York. Guatemala charged Honduras and Nicaragua with "open aggression."

But in Washington the U. S. State Department for its part rejected the charge of aggression, declaring it had "no evidence that this is anything other than a revolt of Guatemalans against the government."

In a statement, Guatemalan Foreign Minister Guillermo Toriello had charged the Nicaragua government with supporting the invasion. (Continued On Fifth Page)

Truman Taken To Hospital After Brief Illness

KANSAS CITY, June 19 (AP)—Former President Harry Truman was taken to Research Hospital tonight after a day's illness had been described as an attack of acute indigestion.

In a statement, Truman walked in to the hospital accompanied by his wife and personal physician, Dr. Wallace Graham, and went directly to his room.

Truman was taken ill last night at Kansas City's Starlight Theater, where he had gone to make a surprise appearance in the play "Call Me Madam," based on the activities of Perle Mesta, Washington party giver and ambassador to Luxembourg under Truman.

At that time and again this evening, members of the family said the former President had suffered an attack of acute indigestion and was much better.

Dr. Graham was not immediately available to tell of Truman's condition or why he had been brought to the hospital.

Mrs. Truman said early this evening that the former President had stayed inside all day and was feeling better. He usually makes a visit to his Kansas City office on Saturday mornings.

Truman has enjoyed extremely good health since his return to his Independence home a year and a half ago after his seven-year tenure in the White House.

The peppy ex-President was 70 years old last May 8.

Floods Hit North Iowa Lowlands

SIoux CITY, Iowa, June 19 (AP)—Flood waters raged through a score of river valleys in northwestern and northern Iowa tonight as rescue teams stood by for possible emergency evacuations.

Crop damage mounted by the hour, hundreds of northern Iowa families had either evacuated their homes or moved prized possessions to safety, and flood waters spilled into several towns.

The floods began Thursday night and early Friday when the northern third of Iowa got general thundershowers averaging three to six inches of rainfall. Many points got over five inches.

Last night and early today the crisis mounted when northwestern Iowa got additional heavy rains ranging up to an unofficial seven-inch fall a few miles south of Storm Lake.

Hancock County Engineer Charles Paulson estimated crop damage in that county alone at more than half a million dollars. Britt, in Hancock County, had an official rainfall of 8.57 inches and Woden, a village north of Britt, had an unofficial 10 inches.

The Omaha office of the Army Engineers ordered eight rescue teams, with motor boats, to the town of Onawa near the Missouri River on Onawa's western border. Onawa is near the rampaging Little Sioux River which is flooding at dozens of points upstream.

In Sioux City, where a flash flood on the Floyd River took 14 lives just a year ago, residents along the stream got ready for an overflow due to reach its crest late tonight or early Sunday.

Patrols were posted on Floyd River levees, elderly persons were evacuated and the Red Cross set up an emergency care unit in the Sioux City auditorium. Unlike a year ago, residents had adequate warning to make precautionary preparations.

In northern Iowa, which missed the heaviest of last night's new rainfall, flood conditions still existed over a wide area. Fifty families left their homes in Mason City when flood waters entered the western and eastern parts of the city but the waters now have begun falling slowly.

Latest rains include nearly six inches at Galva, Iowa; nearly five at Remsen, over five at Sibley, Pocahontas, and Storm Lake. Spencer, in northwest Iowa, was sandbagging the southern bank of the Little Sioux River there but anticipated some overflow in the southern part of town. Other towns with flood waters in the outskirts included Peterson, Cherokee, Ida Grove, Correctionville, Linn Grove and Garner.

Jes' Ramblin'

Once more the Spanish swindle is being worked through the mails and north Louisiana persons have been given the "opportunity" to realize a sudden fortune. The letters are mailed from Mexico and state that the writer is in jail on bankruptcy charges. He is unable to get a trunk of his which is loaded with cash and is being held in customs office at the border of the United States and Mexico.

All he needs is money to get the trunk out and redeem a check held against him. The person who helps him will be given a large share of the wealth contained in the trunk. The whole affair is fictitious and anyone who is so easy as to fall for this project will regret it. The postal authorities are seeking perpetrators of this swindle.

A DeSard Street downtown businessman called Jes' Ramblin' and declared that there was a suddenly developed "cemetery" out in the Cole addition near where he resides. He was highly amused and urged that it be investigated. Taking the tip as possibly the making of a story, we proceeded to the place designated.

Sen. Hunt Kills Self In Office

WASHINGTON, June 19 (AP)—Sen. Lester Callaway Hunt, 61, former governor of Wyoming and a member of the Kefauver Crime Investigating Committee of 1951-52, committed suicide today.

Worried about a kidney ailment, he shot himself in the head with a .22 caliber rifle in his Senate office and died 3½ hours later. The coroner pronounced the case a suicide.

The Wyoming Democrat announced a week ago Tuesday that because of his health he would not seek reelection and planned to retire after completing his first Senate term next January.

Police said at least two notes were found, one addressed to his wife and another to his chief of office aide, Mike Manatos.

Sen. Clements (D-Ky.), a close friend of Hunt's, said there were three notes, two to members of the senator's staff and a third that was "not to the staff."

"There was nothing in the letters that gave any motive for the act," Clements said, and he declined to discuss them further except to say they were "some letters of direction."

In a statement, Clements said: "Sen. Hunt's close associates have recognized some indications of his being depressed over his state of health."

Manatos said Hunt "suffered from a kidney affliction which had given him great cause for concern."

"Two years ago," Manatos said, "the senator underwent surgery and had a cyst removed from his side and since that operation, has been bothered by a swelling of his hands when he exerted himself physically."

Hunt's death makes the Senate lineup 47 Democrats, 47 Republicans and 1 Independent.

Appointment of a successor to serve the remaining months of Hunt's unexpired term may give the Republicans a numerical majority for the first time since the death last summer of Sen. Robert A. Taft of Ohio. Taft was succeeded by a Democrat, Sen. Burke, but the Republicans retained nominal control.

Hunt's successor will be named (Continued On Fifth Page)

Farrington, a Republican, had represented the territory since 1942.

His was the second death of a member of Congress today.

Sen. Lester C. Hunt, 61, committed suicide by shooting himself in the head with a .22-caliber rifle this morning.

Police said it was reported that Farrington died of a heart attack.

When he failed to keep an appointment, and it was learned he was not at home, a check was made at his office, where he was found dead.

Police and the coroner were summoned.

Farrington was a native of Washington, D. C.

He is survived by his widow and two children, a daughter, Mrs. Hugh F. Richardson, and a son, John.

Farrington was president and publisher of the Honolulu Star-Bulletin and had been a newspaperman for years before coming to Congress.

Farrington served two four-year terms in the Hawaiian Senate before his election as a delegate to Congress in 1942.

Friends reported that Farrington had suffered from a heart condition for some time.

His body was found by his secretary, Mrs. Margaret C. Turner and Mr. Juhaku of the Hawaiian Statehood Commission.

He was last seen alive at 2:45 p.m. this afternoon when Mrs. Turner left Farrington in his office.

He talked by phone with a friend about 3:20 p.m. and reported he was not feeling well.

If Congress decides to admit the territory of Hawaii as the 49th state, most of the credit probably will go to Farrington.

Hawaii's delegate to Congress for the past 10 years, Farrington fought the statehood battle since 1934.

Feeling Tense As Result Of Assassination

Demo Nominee For Attorney General Brutally Slain

PHENIX CITY, Ala., June 19 (AP)—Heavily armed National Guard troops patrolled this jittery city tonight while police hunted a gunman who killed A. L. Patterson, Alabama's anti-vice crusading Democratic nominee for attorney general.

And Adj. Gen. Walter J. Hanna, in personal command of the state militia, said that, "Gambling has stopped and will remain stopped. We will keep troops here until this is completely cleaned up."

"The show is over in Phenix City."

He added, however, that he has no intention of putting Phenix City under martial law unless the situation grows worse.

City officials ordered all cafes, honky-tonks and amusement places closed at 8 p.m. Saturday.

About 75 National Guardsmen were brought into this once gay haven of fun seekers, and Gen. Hanna said more can be moved in on short notice if needed.

"My job here is to preserve law and order and we intend to do that," the adjutant general said. "If it means closing every honky-tonk in Phenix City, we'll do that."

A National Guard helicopter circled above Phenix City in an effort to spot any illegal mass gatherings.

Gov. Gordon Persons said the guardsmen were ordered in as a precautionary measure to prevent possible trouble. He authorized Adjutant Gen. Walter J. Hanna to take whatever steps he deems necessary to keep peace because of what he described as high feeling between rival political factions.

Persons offered a $5,000 reward for information leading to the arrest and conviction of the person who fired three bullets into A. L. Patterson last night as he sat in his parked car.

The Army posted an unprecedented "off-limits" sign on the town for soldiers from nearby Ft. Benning, Ga., world's largest infantry training center.

Individual night spots offering gambling and other inducements to Ft. Benning soldiers have been put off limits from time to time, but never before has the entire city been declared out of bounds.

Maj. Gen. Joseph H. Harper, commanding general at Ft. Benning, said he took the drastic action at the request of Gov. Persons.

Meanwhile, the manager of the Phenix City Club, a member of Commerce, Alton Y. Foster, resigned his job and said he would move to another city because, "This has reached the point where I personally cannot endure it any longer. I'm through."

Foster said he will seek a similar job in another city and expressed the hope that residents of Phenix City "will some day rise up and eliminate the cause of this situation."

Only a faint trail of footprints gave state, county and city officers the faintest glimmer of hope (Continued On Fifth Page)

Legion Voting Promises To Be Exciting Event

An important meeting will be held Monday night by L. B. Faulk Post No. 13 of the American Legion Home in Forsythe Park at 8:00 p.m.

The annual election of officers of the post will be held. At the last meeting the nominating committee, composed of C. M. Mitchell, chairman, William Haddad, Sam Orchard, "Red" Adair, and Frank Tichell turned in the names of the following as the nominees for officers of the post: Commander, Mr. D. Farr, Jr.; 1st vice commander, Miss Edith Faris; 2nd vice commander, Milton Ford, Jr.; adjutant C. B. Braun; finance officer, H. L. Gill; chaplain, Rev. E. D. Holloway; sergeant at arms, Frank Tichell; color bearers, Anthony Buttitia; service officer, H. B. McClendon; historian, C. M. Mitchell; executive committee, H. F. Madison, Jr., B. C. Root, Jr., John Adair.

It is urged that every member who possible can attend this election and meeting.

There probably will be nominations made from the floor, and this may be a most interesting meeting.

Refreshments will be served following the meeting, by Milton Ford, Jr., and his committee. It is planned to serve ice cold water-melons.

Bank Directors At Sterlington Name Officers

MARVIN O. RAMSEY

STERLINGTON, June 19 (Special)—The board of directors of the Sterlington bank has named officers for the forthcoming year, elevating, in so doing, two former assistant cashiers to higher posts.

The officers include J. R. Fuller, chairman of the board; N. B. James, president; Marvin O. Ramsey, vice-president and director; Dr. B. E. Spencer, vice-president; D. Y. Smith, vice-president, and Mrs. Christine Pate McDavid, cashier.

Ramsey and Mrs. McDavid were both formerly assistant cashiers in the bank.

Ramsey was born in Farmerville, attended Farmerville High School and Louisiana State University, and spent three years in the armed services. Prior to his connection with the Sterlington bank he spent four years with major finance companies, and has been with the bank two years. He is married and is the father of two children.

Mrs. McDavid graduated from Ouachita Parish High School, and received her business education in a private school in Mississippi, where she resided for some 15 years. She has been with the bank two years, and is a member of the First Methodist Church of Sterlington, National Insurance Women's Association, Epsilon Sigma Alpha, and the Wesley Service Guild of the Methodist Church.

Following the election, N. B. James, president, said: "The Sterlington Bank had a very successful year and plans are almost complete to add approximately 50 per cent more floor space to the present building which was constructed four years ago."

Bank directors had been elected at a previous meeting. A. E. Wolbank, a director, died before he could take office.

Those who will serve are: James, Ramsey, J. R. Fuller, S. L. Fuller, James J. R. and Dr. B. E. Spencer.

The outstanding drill platoon is to receive an award in the form of a trophy.

TWO SOLDIERS of the Monroe area recently began eight weeks of basic training in the Antiaircraft Artillery Replacement Training Center at Ft. Bliss, Texas. They are Pvt. Leo Lester Howell, left, son of Mrs. Howell, Route No. 3, Monroe, and Pvt. Melvin L. Loper, Jr., husband of Mrs. Berry Gammell Loper, 611 McGuire, Monroe.

City Playgrounds Attendance Brisk During The Week

A total of 4,228 persons were in attendance at the city playgrounds during the past week, Jack Hesketh, Monroe city recreation director, announced Saturday. The attendance record includes both white and colored children.

Broken down, the white figure was 2,149, while 2,071 Negroes visited the playgrounds.

The number for the various playgrounds, Hesketh said, was: Barkdull Park, 286; Plum Street, 351; Lida Benton, 300; Georgia Tucker, 493; Missouri Pacific, 148; Sherrouse, 162; Lexington, 209; Carver project, 571; Carroll High 338; Booker T., 346; Mt. Nebo, 285; and Bryant's Addition, 531.

During the week several of the playgrounds featured turtle races. Winners in these contests were: Sherrouse, Billy Brown; Lexington, Nancy Gilliland; Lida Benton, Robert Ziegler; Plum Street, Wevely Wright; Carroll High, Donald Anderson; and Mt. Nebo, Jack Long.

This week all playgrounds will have checker tournaments for all age groups and winners will meet at the Missouri Pacific for the white children and the Carver project for the colored. The championship contest will be held on Monday, June 28.

The weekly feature of all playgrounds this Friday will be stunt day.

All children are invited to attend the playgrounds, which are open from 8:30 until 11:30 a.m. Monday through Friday.

Major Hatley Receives V. F. W Service Award

Major Lloyd E. Hatley, director of veterans affairs for the state of Louisiana, was awarded a plaque at the recent state convention of the Veterans of Foreign Wars denoting his service to Louisiana veterans.

The plaque was presented by the state commander and read "In recognition of the outstanding service rendered to the veterans of the state."

Major Hatley took over the directorship of the veterans department in July of 1942. Citing increases in the department since 1951 Major Hatley noted that from 1951 to 1952 there had been a monetary benefit increase to veterans of $5,588,000. From 1952 to 1953 the increase was estimated by Hatley to be $6,504,000.

New benefits secured by the department for the fiscal year ending June 30, 1954 was estimated to run over $7,000,000, Major Hatley said, disregarding educational and training benefits.

Known throughout the state of Louisiana as an untiring worker for the rights of veterans, Major Hatley is a member of the Rodney J. Hobbs Post 1809 here in Monroe and a life member of the American Legion post of Mangham.

The list of medals and other recognitions given to Major Hatley for war services and those performed after leaving the service are lengthy, but the recipient of the V. F. W. plaque stated that "no other recognition has so taken me by surprise as did that bestowed upon me by the V. F. W. It is one for which I am grateful, but one which I share with members of my department."

Alaska Mission Leader To Tell Of Experiences

Of special interest to many people in the Monroe area, there will be a special speaker at the United Pentecostal Church located at the 1600 block of South Second St., Monroe.

Miss Beckey Caughron, daughter of Rev. and Mrs. E. W. Caughron, missionaries to Alaska, will be speaking to us Sunday morning at the 11:00 o'clock service. Miss Caughron will give an interesting talk on missionary life in Alaska.

Rev. and Mrs. Caughron and Beckey went to Alaska in February of 1953 and have been doing a wonderful work for God in and around Anchorage. They have been missed by their many friends in the state of Louisiana and also throughout all the United States. They report a better progress of late in the Alaskan field of labor. They are doing a great work for the Lord in Alaska.

Miss Caughron arrived by plane early Wednesday morning and will be spending the summer with her sister, Mrs. T. F. Tenny. (Note: Rev. Tenny is the pastor of the United Pentecostal Church located at 1600 South Second St.)

"The public is cordially invited to attend this service."

Congratulations Anyway, Jack

W. L. Jack Howard, Monroe Businessman and former state president of the Junior Chamber of Commerce went to Colorado to capture the National Presidency of the United States Junior Chamber of Commerce.

In a long tie vote, one which lasted for many hours, Jack unfortunately lost by two votes.

Whether he lost or won doesn't seem to matter. He has helped put the name "Monroe, Louisiana" on the map. He has been an excellent ambassador for the Twin Cities. Obviously, this newspaper wishes that Jack could have won the election. Had he won, he could have helped in greater amounts, to spread the good tidings about the Twin Cities throughout the nation. The fact that he only lost by two votes demonstrated that he had great support in the convention.

To all the Monroe, West Monroe and Louisiana Jaycees who went to Colorado in order to help Jack in his bid for election and to Jack himself, a vote of thanks is tendered for a job well done even though it was not culminated by final victory.

Something To Think About

The culmination of the hearings in the Senate caucus room (erroneously termed "the McCarthy-Army hearings") should give many Americans food for thought this Sunday morning.

There were so many "angles" to the sordid affair that many people became hopelessly confused. The fight never concerned the Army as it was solely an attack against Senator McCarthy conducted by the Republican "Advance" (the left wing of the GOP) and two Democrat Senators.

Here was the situation. On one hand, the President, taking his cue from the "Advance" (Lodge, Dewey, Sherman Adams) was publicly at war with Senator McCarthy. On another hand, the GOP Secretary of the Army, Robert Stevens was receiving the "go ahead" sign from two Democrat Senators who in turn were receiving orders from Clark Clifford, the aide to Harry Truman. It is probable that Truman was giving the orders to start with.

Several highly placed sources in the national capital are now discussing the direct connections between Truman, Marshall and the President.

On a third or fourth hand, Drew Pearson, the Alsops and Sherman Adams were urging, possibly ordering, Senator Flanders to attack McCarthy and supplying him with necessary "information." What about the charges against McCarthy? Three separate administration and Army figures stated under oath that McCarthy's performance was never at any time, "out of hand" and never did the Senator apply pressure which was in any manner, unfair. These three were Generals Reber and Ryan and the Secretary of the Army himself.

McCarthy, to the horror of the leftists, the Communists and the allied left wing Republicans and Democrats, has come out without a scratch. In direct contrast to what the "polls" say, the Senator has picked up support in quarters never before attainable. Even the Detroit Free Press and the Miami Herald, two viciously anti-McCarthy newspapers are conceding that the Senator is somewhat clear.

There were efforts, you will remember, to demonstrate that McCarthy was "wrong" in accepting information from government employees. How can that be when McCarthy is head of the committee on Government operations? Under the Constitution, the Congress must act as a watchdog over the executive.

Would Joseph R. McCarthy, firm in his hate of subversion in any form, an admitted anti-Communist, use information in any way harmful to this nation? What about those who say he shouldn't have the information? What have their records been? As members of the executive branch of the government, many of them are hiding aspects of a grim situation, one which admittedly needed uncovering.

On this Sunday morning, your thoughts must be turned to the terrible power of the Communist party in this nation.

Many people have shrugged off this party as an insignificant force. However, the information concerning these hearings clearly demonstrates that the Marxists and the Communists, through their associates in the government, in the press and elsewhere had almost succeeded in destroying their greatest antagonist, the Wisconsin Senator. McCarthy has on the other hand, by his complete truthfulness, his ability to answer questions put to him by the opposition, demonstrated that he never at any time concerning these hearings, was in error of justice and that he was merely attempting to do his job in the best, the most efficient manner possible.

The power of subversion in this nation can only be realized when one considers the innocent, unthinking Americans who have fallen victim to this Marxist propaganda. The power of that subversion becomes known only when it is demonstrated that officials of the government, high, very high, are themselves guilty of swallowing the propaganda spread about Joe McCarthy.

Unfortunately however, it is not all so innocent as that. There are curious connections between subversive forces and highest levels of government. What power in the government has the Socialist arm, the ADA? What power in the government has the Marxist element in the government, the "Advance"? Are they, (the Advance and the ADA) one in the same? Are the Socialists and the Communists in this nation working hand in hand as they have done in so many other nations prior to internal destruction of those nations? What power has the hand of George Marshall, a tool of some who are helping and have helped work against the best interests of the nation? Where do the curious hands of certain New York bankers fit into this affair? On this Sunday morning, there is information at hand so disquieting that only the most complacent will fail to realize the danger.

The Marxists in the United States had hoped to destroy McCarthy. They had hoped to ruin him, to end him as a menace to their conquest. All efforts at this have failed. A fearless and tireless American, fighting for your security, your rights as free Americans, your Constitution, Joseph R. McCarthy stands head and shoulders above his antagonists, cleared of any smear charges against him.

The amazing man has demonstrated for all to see that even though the hearings were slanted against him by three hostile senators, the bulk of the press and radio, millions of unthinking Americans, he can come out on top of the sordid heap.

How did he do it? He did it with one factor at his disposal. Joseph McCarthy and his associates based their case on the truth. They based their case knowing all along that they stood foursquare on the truth, the correct facts and that they were opposed by forces using slander, defamation and perverberation. The latter forces, according to moral law, were never scheduled to win.

These hearings have been before the American people. McCarthy, no matter what they say about him now, has demonstrated for the people to see, that he is above the wretchedness of line politics, slanderous diatribes and idiocy as demonstrated by members of both political parties. He has shown a willingness to fight for the Constitution, the United States and the freedom of the people.

The American people owe this man a great debt. He, singlehandedly, no matter what the opposition has been able to say, has awakened the people to the indescribable dangers at hand.

And what of the Army General who started the thing? Zwicker? At the commencement of the Massachusetts Institute of Technology, Zwicker had the following words to say:

"We cannot compete with Communism. We must find means of peaceful co-existence. We must devote our efforts to the avoidance of armed conflict."

The Communists, who have now set a timetable for your destruction know better about this "peaceful co-existence."

So does Joe McCarthy.

On this Sunday morning—something to think about.

Madison Parish

The old adage "good can come from bad" has a like respect in reviewing the history of Madison parish, known as a member of the Louisiana district which comprises the deep delta country. The deep delta soil is some of the most fertile soil in the United States and productive crops are grown each year to point to a higher per centage basis in comparison with other soils.

Madison parish was one of the most ravaged parishes in the state following the Civil War. Classed as the darkest hours in her history the parish sustained destruction, privation and financial loss. The aftermath, the years following the war, were even more extreme due to political strife when the government was in the hands of Reconstructionists. Following these hardships was a siege of yellow fever and floods which destroyed crops for many years.

That was the past for Madison parish. The present and future have and will be molded to respect and protect all that was gained from the hardships.

Levees equipped to handle Old Man River, respected term for the great Mississippi, protect the fertile lands of the parish today. When speaking of Madison parish most of her people will firmly state that you cannot mention the parish by name unless you mention the river because the two go hand in hand and each is a semblance to the other.

In the era of progress today Madison parish can boast of some of the most beautiful farms in the country, most of which are farmed with the most modern methods, an up-to-date school system, beautiful church dwellings and forward seeking governmental agencies.

The good that came from the bad is true evidence today in Madison parish. The days of the Civil War took their toll, but those days were long ago and the past is remembered, but the future is present and today is what counts, not yesterday.

'Rebels And Revolutionaries'

The President in several speeches during the past few weeks, has amazed even some of his followers. He termed the founding fathers as "revolutionaries and rebels" in describing the quest for freedom.

It is not known whether or not he was comparing them to some of today's "rebels and revolutionaries" who are guilty of murdering hundreds of thousands of innocent people in each nation they "liberate" or whether he merely referred to the fact that they rebelled from a medieval dictatorship, something akin to that which the Socialist planners are planning for the United States today.

In another of his speeches, addressed to a crowd of howling and screaming "Advance" Republicans now called "Citizens for Eisenhower," he demanded that they elect a rubber stamp congress much as did Mr. Roosevelt some years ago. The fact that this demand was made on top of the arrogant lowering of the curtain of information over the January conference at the White House, has raised many an eyebrow in the nation and among those who supported the President hoping for a change.

If the "rebels and revolutionaries" of the old American days were indeed what Mr. Eisenhower termed them, perhaps he should also become a revolutionary and a rebel.

Roy Cohn — American
Monroe, La.

Editor, Morning World:

I could not refrain from writing the enclosed article; which I believe is timely with reference to the current Army - McCarthy hearings. I trust you will see fit to print this, as soon as possible in your paper.

Foundations of our American Heritage have been revealed over and over throughout the McCarthy-Army Controversy; as Roy Cohn has refused to be aroused or antagonized as questions were hurled at him. Day in and out, famous men from all our Departments of National Guidance have questioned witnesses and have been on the stand themselves at one time or other. During the procedure these men have rallied to party differences and have taken advantage of time allotted them to "air" personal feelings, to flaunt petty remarks to alleviate tension; evidently built up long before the hearing began.

Roy Cohn, "American," has sat firm in the rules of trial and justice, and not once has he attempted to retaliate with curt or self-indignant remarks, as might well have been expected in lieu of the interrogation he has endured and in most part he was never extended the common courtesy to finish the statements he attempted to make.

From a judicial angle, from a political angle; from a national angle of world - wide detriment, I cannot say, with reference to the issue "presumably" at stake, but as to the fine, uncompromising attitude of the youth of our nation, it has been displayed in the person of Roy Cohn. The characteristics of great, unabridged Americanism have been at stake but Roy Cohn refused to "bicker" but answered all inquiry in such a gentlemanly fashion, I know each of us in America can rest in the knowledge that Communism, or any other "ism" that would infiltrate or hamper our American way of life is at a "safe" distance thwarted by strong, young, competent hands. In the flower of manhood, unbiased in his judgement of others.

Not to minimize the issue at stake nor the danger at hand, it is refreshing to watch an alert young mind in action, reply to unmodified questioning and still remain calm and dignified, while great minds all around him have fired up with statements unbecoming to men in places of responsibility as I have watched Roy Cohn defend quietly, but firmly, what each of us hold dear. My mind has travelled to past and present battlefields where our young men have defended our way of life. I have seen the type character that would be able to survive when the going was past self-indulgence.

Roy Cohn has displayed a giant manifestation of a code by which all mankind should strive to live, "it is not the position in life that makes one great, but the power of character that comes to light in the hour of trial." If I may draw a parallel of a previous great American and Cohn, to wit: "Speak softly and carry a big stick."

Political Courage

Monroe, La.

(We appreciate Mr. Grant sending this newspaper a copy of his letter to Senator James Sparks.)

Hon. James D. Sparks:

I wish to express my appreciation and admiration of your personal and political courage in voting favorably for passage of the Right to Work Bill.

Having testified for its passage at hearings before the Senate Industrial Relations Committee and having been present when you and your colleagues voted on the bill, I can in some slight measure comprehend the intolerable circumstances under which your vote was cast.

Therefore, on behalf of our organization, I wish to make known to you our genuine appreciation of the integrity displayed by you in voting your conscience despite the terrific pressure and harassing tactics employed by organized labor and other opponents of the bill.

Wishing you deserved and continued success in public life and assuring you that an overwhelming majority of your constituents approve of your action and are proud to have you representing their District, I am

H. P. GRANT, JR.
Secretary - Manager,
Louisiana Delta Council.

Sen. Sparks Has Not Risen Above Selfish Interest

Monroe, La.

Editor, Morning World:

I do appreciate you printing all of the letters that have been sent in which oppose your views on the so-called "Right-to-Work" Bill. Will you please print the following on the same subject.

It is my personal opinion that the forces of Evil and Ignorance combined their strength in the Louisiana Senate to pass the so-called "Right-to-Work" Bill.

I would like to mention Senator James D. Sparks who is supposed to represent the people of this Senatorial District. Senator Sparks has complained of the pressure of organized labor to have him vote against this so called "Right-to-Work" Bill. Any member of Congress or the state legislature who has an open mind on any question will invite visits or letters from his constituents expressing their opinion on questions of importance to them. Only those who have ulterior reasons for voting for or supporting some question will "holer" pressure.

Is it true that Senator Sparks' law firm represents one of the Big railroads and rides on a pass on this railroad? Is it also true that this same man is a director of one of the banks of Monroe and one of the officers of this bank is the president of the Louisiana Delta Council? Did not the national organization of this council at their meeting at Memphis go on record to present "Right-to-Work" bills in every state that did not have one? By my standards Mr. Sparks has not risen above selfish interest in his representation and does not represent the wishes of the majority of the people of this Senatorial District.

OTIS DAVIS.

God And Peace

Collinston, La.

Editor, Morning World:

Many years have been wasted, many lives have been given, many homes have been broken and children have been made fatherless since the beginning of the so-called peace talks in the United Nations, but we are no nearer a solution for world peace now than when we first began. Why? Because the right way toward world peace has never been tried and that way is God's way. Let God's Holy Spirit lead. Read His word and then He will help us in our trouble.

If the leaders of our nation were consecrated Christian men who are not afraid of offending our Russian delegates, would read God's word and ask His leadership in solving these world problems, something could be done to bring about world peace.

Right To Work Bill Against Laboring Man

West Monroe, La.

Editor, Morning World:

I want to speak my view; points on the right to work bill which is being pressured through this legislation in Baton Rouge. I live in a state before coming to Louisiana that has the Right to Work bill. I have seen no good come to the laboring class of people in this state due to the law restricting labor activities. In my own opinion this bill written in the same language is to suppress labor activities only.

This is a clear cut bill of discrimination against the laboring man and his organization. If the one who introduced this bill and his supporters are only opposed to having to pay a living wage and better working condition which unions have obtained the supporters of this Right to Work Bill know that a divided union or no union can be abused in any way the Employer sees fit, United we stand divided we fall.

If this Right to Work Bill is designed solely to protect laborers right it seems strange that the sugar cane industry machine operated farms to support laborers right. It seems that this Right to Work bill is miss-managed.

I wonder if the Senators noted how many labor men testified in support of this bill and as to the class of people who supported the bill. Who was it the Senators took an interest in, only the privileged few. The vast majority of the voters were ignored in his testimony. Since the majority of our Senators ignored our wishes we have been one recourse, that is to use our votes at the poles. These public servants have voted against the welfare of myself and family.

I fully believe that if this Right to Work Bill had included all groups and classes who combine together for their advancement of a better living such as Chamber of Commerce, National Association of Manufacturers, American Medical Association and the many other associations who work only for their advancement, and restricted the management or owner of a manufacturer in the operation of his plant the bill would not have ever been introduced.

Teapot Dome Scandal

Tallulah, La.

Editor, Morning World:

With great indignation some of the worshippers of "The New Deal" people are constantly reminding people of the Teapot Dome scandal as a smoke screen to cover up some of the many scandals of the past twenty years.

The Teapot Dome tract consisted of 10,000 acres of government owned land in the state of Wyoming. It was considered prospective oil land, but no test wells had been drilled up until 1922. This tract, and another known as the Elk Hills area of California had been designated for naval oil reserves.

These two regions were under the jurisdiction of the federal government, and Albert B. Fall, then the secretary of interior, asked that these tracts of land be transferred to his department. In great haste he leased them without the usual competitive bidding to two rich oil men. When the Teapot Dome lease was completed — the only one of the two that was completed, revealed that Mr. Fall had accepted a bribe in the amount of $100,000. There was no other government official involved.

By this time President Coolidge had come into office succeeding Mr. Harding. Instead of yelling "red herrings" and "witch hunts" he went about his business and demanded prosecutions regardless of who they were. Mr. Fall was convicted and sent to prison. The lease was annulled by the federal courts and the property was reverted to the government without any cost to the taxpayers. Nothing more was done with the Teapot Dome until 1951 when the Navy drilled the first well on this acreage, and according to reports two oil showings were found — one at 3,450 feet and another at 5,450 feet. This happens to be the highlights of the "Great Teapot Dome Oil Scandal."

It is not generally known but in 1943 President Roosevelt very quietly leased the Elk Hills tract, said to be a better oil prospect than the Teapot Dome, to some oil company, and Senator Ed Johnson (Democrat) said it was "more scandalous than the Teapot Dome deal." Assistant Attorney General Norman Littell stated on June 22, 1943, to the public lands committee that this deal "went beyond the agreements involved in the Teapot Dome scandal of the Harding Administration." Was anybody prosecuted for that?

In contrast to all the scandals, shielding of spies, traitors and thieves, and double crossing crooked deals at Yale where 600,000 people were thrown into slavery (many of them loyal allies) which has placed this country in a most dangerous position, almost to the point of the brink of destruction; President Coolidge fired his Attorney General Daugherty because he refused to cooperate with investigators, and vigorously sought prosecution of the guilty.

This is the path we have followed for the past twenty years and the "leftwing Republican advance" seem to be making a good job picking up where the "New Deal Fair Deal" left off.

Post Office Employees Need A Raise—Now!

Monroe, La.

Editor, Morning World:

I would appreciate it very much if you would print the following portion of this letter in the "Public Forum" column of your paper.

Postmaster General Arthur Summerfield's plan to help Post Office employees is no help at all. A few officials at the top will get meaningful raises — some as much as $5200 a year — but the majority of Post Office employees will get less than two dollars a week.

Actually, it is the employees in the little jobs who are so badly in need of an increase. We can't continue to go into debt, or work on extra jobs or have our wives away from home and children because they have to work to supplement the family income.

The Post Office Department officials' speeches about the need to pay according to the difficulty and responsibility of a job is all very good, but the primary thing a job has to do is to pay a wage on which a man and his family can live.

Other workers in private industry have received annual or nearly annual raises. Post Office increases in the past 15 years have been few and far between. When they did come, they still left us behind the cost of living.

There is no reason why the United States Government should not treat its employees as well as private industry has treated its workers. Post Office employees need a raise and they need it now.

All of the huffalabouting about "job reclassification" and other fine phrases of the management engineering firms that Postmaster General Summerfield hired will not change the single fact that Post Office workers are terribly low.

Post Office employees are skilled workmen; they should be paid truly.

Pro And Con Of Welch's Crocodile Tears

Rayville, La.

Editor, Morning World:

There appeared in the Monroe Morning World editorial of June 13 an article entitled, "Welch's Crocodile Tears."

This article conveyed a different impression to the shedding of tears by the Army's chief counsel (John Adams) during the McCarthy - Army hearings of the evening of June 9, 1954 than does the article written by James Marlow, Associated Press Correspondent, as recorded in the Morning World of June 10.

Let us examine an excerpt from both articles quoting now from the editorial article of June 13. Welch seized the opportunity, turned on the tears for 15 years here and denounced the senator in severe terms. "This leaves the reader with the impression that Counsel Welch deliberately produced tears through insincere emotions and began pouring his wrath out on the senator from Wisconsin. All of this done and said before a TV audience."

The article written by James Marlow which I now quote from presents a different picture. "Only a moment before, the meaning lawyer Welch had provided the emotional moment of the hearing with a voice so choked as seemed like a man speaking through tears. He held the tears until he got outside the room."

Is there any difference in speaking in a voice so choked as seemingly to be speaking through tears, but actually withholding the tears, to be released later outside the speakers' room when the talk is finished, than for one to show the speakers' rostrum in a show of emotion that is insincere, with gigantic tears flowing down his face while he publicly denounces some one before a TV audience?

I rather think there is a great difference. St. Peter was a man of great stature, but he withheld his tears in the hall of communion. It would appear to me that great men should follow this procedure.

Louisiana In Need Of Reliable Leaders

Ruston, La.

Editor, Morning World:

Right now we need strong men at the head of our state and we need them in this segregation struggle. Gov. Kennon has disappointed us and our U. S. Senators — ostensibly reaching for votes — have made no effort to retain segregation.

Gov. Kennon went to the southern governors' meeting in Richmond. He went there with no solution to solve the segregation dispute and said he didn't expect to return with any. Why did he go, just to throw cold water on those who had resolutions? When asked this question he replied that he thought it would be a nice meeting for the governors.

So far, his solution is that everybody prepare to bow to the Supreme Court (aftermath of the New-Fair Dealers) and begin training their offspring to be mongrels. Sometime ago Gov. Kennon said that he didn't need anyone on the Potomac to tell us how to rear our children. He seems to have overlooked the fact that these nine old men have changed things so we can't bring up our children as we want to. This is the reason for the South at the mercy of northern agitators, carpetbaggers and crooked politicians all of whom are under the remote control of the Communists whose motto is "We can and must write in a language which shows among the masses hate, revulsion, scorn and the like, toward those who disagree with us." Note, please, Russia wants a revolution.

This is the law of the Kremlin and these northern agitators have promised to carry out their plans, that is, mingle the races whether the people desire it or not. This may ultimately force the people of this country to get behind Bill S. 138, revise it and send these people back to their native land. We just cannot afford to fall out and fight among ourselves to please Russia.

We should turn to private schools, a dual system, or stagger the pupils. Anything to avoid miscegenation.

I Am A Mulatto Negro

West Monroe, La.

Editor, Morning World:

I am a daily reader of your paper, and I enjoy reading the Voice of the People. I think it's wonderful for any person to have the privilege to express their own thoughts. Although some are poor judges, while others are very selfish; just as in the letter from Mangham, La. It was stated that it is the Mulatto Negro that is pushing the segregation issue. I am a Mulatto Negro and don't like to be accused of something I do not have or never had anything to do with. I do not want to associate with white people and will not, even by or through any law of the Supreme Court. I do not believe in forcing anyone into doing anything that he does not want to do, and for myself, I have too much self respect. I happen to know it's a disgrace and dishonor to be scorned. Sit not on the seat of scorn nor go in the way of the ungodless.

So it was through force on my great grandmother that I am a Mulatto and it is nothing I have to be proud of. I have, in my lifetime wished that I was very big and black and strong so I could be able to do the hard labor a poor colored woman has to do to obtain the small salary we are paid. To the other mister that wanted us shipped back to Africa, I've always wished that we could have returned to our country, but before the different white races stripped it of its vast riches, like those big diamonds I read about not long ago found in Africa.

When every day to the day comes when long for the day to come when every person is judged according to his own self and not for what others do just because he is in the same race.

and ordered his ambassador here to protest against Col. Castillo's forces being allowed to concentrate in Honduras.

Honduran Foreign Minister J. Edgardo Valenzuela announced he had issued "strict orders" to military and civilian authorities to take positive steps to see that "Honduras' traditional neutrality in her international affairs" was observed.

Col. Castillo, leader of the revolution, was reported to have established a secret headquarters inside Guatemala.

First casualty reports came from the Guatemalan radio, which said several persons were killed and injured during a bombing raid on the capital this morning. The number of casualties was not given.

This was the third bombing raid on the capital. Two attacks were made there Friday.

Guatemalan diplomats in Washington said there also had been casualties from bombings and strafings in Zacapa, San Jose, Puerto Barrios and Retalhuleu.

Except for the raids, Associated Press dispatches from Guatemala City said, the capital was quiet. The people were said to be taking the situation calmly.

The rebels' secret radio reported that the invading army had captured seven sectors, but identified them only by code names.

It said all operations were being conducted successfully, and that the invaders were being supplied with arms and ammunition by air in some cases.

City of Monroe Light and Water Department had evidently had occasion to plow down on the outer edge of the lawn at the house indicated to make some change to a service line. And they chose to do so right next to where the family had artistically erected a black cross with the family name in large letters on the cross piece.

When the City of Monroe got through with their work they smoothed the surface off and it appeared like a new made grave marked by the already on the scene large cross.

Some miscreant, sensing the situation, went and got a wreath and placed it on the cross so as to carry out the project in perfect form.

Well it made a little fun for somebody while it lasted but soon the family removed the wreath and all went back to normal.

Such information can be given any member of the committee, J. Norman Coon, Leon Noland, Jr., A. L. Tatum, Mrs. Clara Seaman, or one can leave information at the church office. How much does the average person know about the auto license plates of states of the union? See if you can answer some of these:

Two states are possessed of plates that are formed to represent the shape of the states; do you know them?

What state has plates that have the faces shown of four presidents. One state has a bucking bronco. Which is that?

A bird is shown on one state plate. Who has observed this emblem?

Then many plates have a slogan or a feature of the state. For example here are a few that a reader can identify if he is alert. They are: "Grand Canyon State"; "Land of Opportunity"; "Colorful"; "Sunshine State"; "Peach State"; "Land of Lincoln"; "Corn State";

LEADERS OF OPPOSING FORCES—As anti-Communist forces marched on red-tinted Guatemala, the foreign minister of the invaded country, Guillermo Toriello, (left), blamed the attack on Guatemalan exile, Col. Castillo Armas, (right), who he said was leading troops.

The Senate Finance Committee will halt consideration of the general appropriations bill Monday to hold a hearing on Rep. Cecil Blair's cattle fencing law.

The committee voted unanimously last Tuesday to reject the bill, but the action raised a storm of protest in the House and a hearing was set for Monday, although one senator said "they just want to hold an inquest so we can have a funeral."

Blair's measure, which passed the House 76-11, bans livestock from highways with a count of over 1,000 vehicles daily. Just as does the Robert's bill. But the Blair bill—endorsed by the open range cattlemen as a compromise measure—also includes $750,000 to help pay the cost of fencing the highways.

French sources said Premier Pierre Mendes-France had cancelled plans to come to Geneva Tuesday on learning that the Big Power leaders he wanted to see were going home.

Mendes-France, before he was confirmed in office, told the French National Assembly Thursday night he would resign if he could not make peace in Indochina by July 20. The conference timetable would have the military negotiators report 10 days before that deadline.

The communique said "the two commands of the two sides" were instructed to study questions having to do with cessation of hostilities in Laos and Cambodia and first of all that of "withdrawal of all foreign armed forces and of all foreign military personnel."

Laos and Cambodia have contended that their soil has been invaded by Vietnamese forces and that to restore peace it is only necessary for these troops to withdraw. But Communist China and the Vietnamese have insisted that there are no regular Vietnamese formations in the two kingdoms, only "volunteers" and indigenous "resistance forces." They have offered to withdraw the "volunteers."

by acting Gov. C. J. Rogers, a Republican.

The Wyoming senator, a dentist by profession, was found unconscious at his desk in the Senate Office Building when Manatos arrived for work with Ira Whitlock, a secretary.

Dr. George Calver, physician to Congress, said there was a .22 caliber rifle bullet over the senator's right temple and he was alone in his office when found. The rifle was beside him.

The stricken lawmaker was rushed to the operating room at Casualty Hospital, where surgeons performed a brain operation and worked vainly for an hour to save his life. Dr. William T. Spencer, a neurosurgeon, told reporters the bullet passed completely through the brain and lodged under the left scalp. The bullet was removed.

The senator's wife, the former Emily Nathele Higley, whom he married while he was an Army lieutenant in World War I, was at the hospital with a friend when he died, at 12:32 p.m., about 3½ hours after he was found.

Sen. Knowland of California, the Senate Republican leader, said the Senate will recess Monday out of respect to Hunt. Sen. Mundt (R-S.D.) announced cancellation of a cocktail party Monday evening which had been planned for all participants in the recently concluded McCarthy-Army hearings.

Mundt, who presided over the row between Sen. McCarthy (R-Wis.) and Army officials, said he wanted it understood that "Sen. Hunt positively is not" the man McCarthy had in mind when he said last night that a Democratic senator is being investigated.

McCarthy said he had ordered his Permanent Investigations subcommittee staff to check up on reports of "just plain wrongdoing" by a Democratic senator whom he did not identify. McCarthy then left for a week's vacation trip without revealing his destination.

"Sen. Hunt positively is not the senator," Mundt told reporters. "He was not directly or indirectly involved in any way in any problem being investigated by the subcommittee."

Mundt added that he thought he knew whom McCarthy was talking about, and that it involved "an old case, previously discussed in a senate debate, and in at least one speech" by McCarthy.

Hunt was a member of the Senate Armed Services and Commerce Committees and of the special Senate Small Business Committee. He did not figure in the McCarthy-Army hearings.

Hunt, a native of Isabel, Ill., was educated at Wesleyan University in Bloomington, Ill., and the St. Louis University College of Dentistry. After World War I he took postgraduate work at Northwestern University and then resumed the practice of dentistry in Lander, Wyo.

Hunt's political career began in 1932 when he entered the Wyoming State House of Representatives. From 1934 until 1942, when he was elected governor, he was secretary of state for Wyoming. He was re-elected governor in 1946 and served as chairman of the governors' conference in 1948.

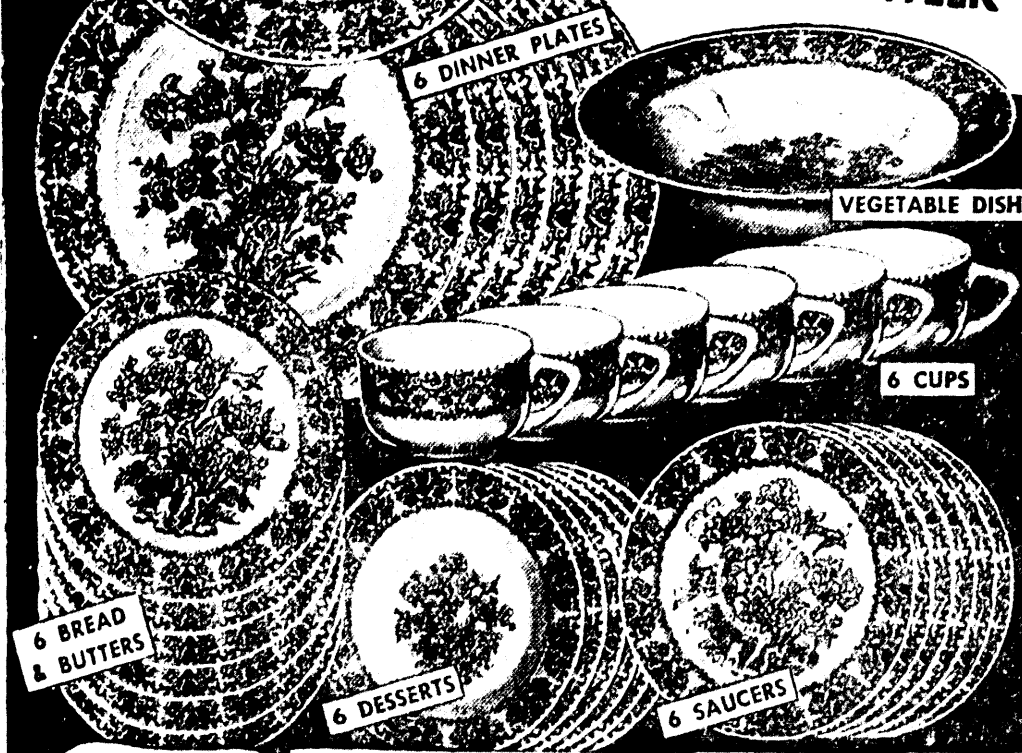

In addition to his widow, Hunt leaves a son, Lester C. Hunt Jr., who is attending school in Chicago, and a daughter, Mrs. Russell C. Chadwick of Minneapolis, Minn.

Exiled Army Man Reveals Letter To President Arbenz

NEW ORLEANS, June 19 (AP)—An exiled Guatemalan army colonel in New Orleans revealed today that he asked President Jacobo Arbenz last month to rout Communists from the government and avoid bloodshed.

In a copyrighted story, the New Orleans States published the contents of a letter dated May 17 from Lt. Col. Roberto Barrios Pena to Arbenz.

The letter called on the Guatemalan president to hold democratic elections as the first step toward peace and security.

The letter's contents were disclosed as the resistance forces of Col. Castillo Armas were reported battling with Arbenz' troops.

The letter told Arbenz that his government faces overthrow by the people unless the Communists were driven out.

"Don't believe yourself omnipotent," Barrios told Arbenz. If it is true that the army has answered "you with loyalty, it is no less true that there is a law of superior to you which is called the constitution of Guatemala."

Barrios is a former superintendent of the Guatemala military

Site Purchased For Library Of Harry Truman

INDEPENDENCE, Mo., June 19 (UP)—The Independence city council voted Saturday to buy a site already under option at $113,650 for the Harry S. Truman library.

The action was subject to approval of the library foundation, but officials believed it would meet the former President's approval. Located about a mile north and slightly west of the Independence square, the tract, together with land to be donated by the city from its Slover memorial park, will provide a library site totalling 13½ acres, Mayor Robert P. Weatherford Jr. said. It is situated adjacent to U. S. 24 on a high point overlooking the balance of the park.

The council voted to transfer $120,000 from the operating fund of the municipally owned light plant to make the purchase.

Mr. Truman said recently that he expected "to make Jackson county my home the rest of my life and I want the library accessible to me."

Mundt Seeks To Prevent Further Rows Involving Congress And Executive

WASHINGTON, June 19 (AP)—Sen. Mundt (R-S.D.) said today he will take up with the White House his plans for averting in the future "completely reprehensible squabbles" such as he said marked some parts of the McCarthy-Army hearings.

Mundt, who presided at the stormy televised sessions, is drafting legislation to create a special coordinating committee to seek cooperation and peaceful relations between congressional investigating committees and the executive branch of the government.

The question of congressional-executive dealings cropped up time and again during the 38 days of public inquiry into the dispute between Sen. McCarthy (R-Wis.) and top Army officials. McCarthy at one point denounced a White House "secrecy" edict against disclosure of what went on at an executive branch meeting where the McCarthy-Army row was discussed.

The protest from McCarthy—regular chairman of the investigations subcommittee looking into the dispute—led to a week-long recess in the hearings to give President Eisenhower time to consider whether to withdraw his order forbidding Atty. Gen. Brownell, top White House aides and others to testify about the meeting. Eisenhower let the order stand, on grounds the U. S. Constitution provided separation of powers between the major branches of government. McCarthy's stand that government employees should give him secret papers bearing on what the senator terms wrongdoing, also brought him into conflict with the administration.

Mundt said in an interview he hoped for an agreement to set up a coordinating committee representing congressional investigating groups and the executive branch of government.

He said such a group, including Republican and Democratic Congress members, could work in harmony and avert "completely reprehensible squabbles" about their powers. He said disputes over the separation of powers of the executive and legislative branches of government at the McCarthy-Army hearings resulted in "honest people disagreeing" and forming opposing camps when they should have been in one camp.

Sen. McClellan of Arkansas, the subcommittee's senior Democrat, before leaving for a trip to his home state, voiced a sharply different view.

"We don't need any coordinating committee if men will be men, and get away from this kid stuff of quarreling and bickering. 'It doesn't make much sense to appoint a committee to help a committee,' McClellan said.

Mundt said his idea is to have about eight Senate and House members, representing investigating groups, sit with about eight from the executive department, including some "lower echelon" White House aides and representatives of the attorney general, the FBI and others. Their job, he said, would be to figure out ways to cooperate in necessary investigations and that if this happened "99 per cent of our difficulties" in disputes over the separation of powers could be averted.

He said he feels such a group well might be made a permanent arm of government.

Bill To Boost Maximum Payments For Injuries To Workers Is Offered

French Beat Off Heavy Attacks By Indo-China Reds

HANOI, June 19 (UP)—French infantrymen aided by fighter planes and light tanks Saturday beat off thousands of Red rebels who tried to slash the Hanoi-Haiphong road-and-rail line in half.

In one of the biggest Red attacks on the Hanoi-Haiphong life-line thousands of Communist Viet Minh troops armed with machine-guns assaulted the double artery at dawn to ambush a French patrol.

The attack took place at Haiphong just halfway down the 58-mile double line of road and rail-road between Hanoi and the port of Haiphong on the gulf of Tonkin. The road-and-rail line has been a top target for the Reds because American supplies move along the route to the Red River delta fighting fronts.

The French patrol was scattered by heavy mortar and machine-gun fire. However they held and rallied for help. One of the new French "counter-punch" mobile units—light tanks and Moroccan light infantry—rushed to the scene.

The tanks and Moroccan infantrymen broke the attack and the rebels fled—leaving 35 dead on the road and in the rice paddy mud along the lines.

French fighter planes, rushed to the ambushed infantrymen's aid, sprayed the Reds as they raced across the flat rice paddies and tried to cross a nearby canal in sampans.

Moroccan sharpshooters added to the toll of Red casualties and then mopped up 20 prisoners in the muddy water along the two supply lines.

New Variety Of Sugar Cane May Be Distributed

HOUMA, La., (UP)—The American Sugar Cane League's contact committee is expected to decide at a meeting here Wednesday whether to release a new sugar cane variety to Louisiana farmers this fall.

Stephen C. Munson, committee chairman, said that new varieties of sugar cane will be discussed and reports will be heard on the research projects of scientists working at the U. S. Department of Agriculture's sugar experiment station.

Dr. E. V. Abbott, superintendent of the station located near the Southdown sugar factory, said that reports on research projects will include results which have been obtained in fertilizer tests, experiments to develop control measures for stunting disease, sugar cane borer control, use of a new farm machinery experiments, urea-fertilizer studies, and milling and classification studies.

BATON ROUGE, June 19 (AP)—A proposed legislative program made public today would boost maximum payments to injured workers from $30 to $35 weekly and family death benefits from $9,000 to $14,000.

The far ranging bill also would tighten the workmen's compensation act against abuses and limit total disability claims according to earning potential.

A two-year study by the Louisiana Employers' Liability Revision Commission led to the 28-page bill. Chairman Douglas Svendsen of Baton Rouge, who headed the study, said the bill would go to the House Labor and Capital Committee Monday. It was introduced by title only as House bill 1045.

"This proposed act will be peculiar to Louisiana," Svendsen said, "and in my opinion will set a widely recognized progressive step that may be followed by other states. 'Employers appear in favor of it. We think at the outset there will be increased payments required from employers because of the increased benefits. But within two years the increased payments should recede because of the expected elimination of abuses under the present act.'"

Svendsen said much of the abuse arises from hernia cases. A worker cannot be made to accept medical treatment or surgery. "And under the law today," he said, "workmen with hernia who refuse to correct the disability are receiving an average compromise settlement of $2,500."

"Under the proposed act, a worker refusing to correct the disability would be limited to 13 weeks compensation at $35 a week unless total disability were involved. Court-appointed physicians would make the determination."

Svendsen's commission was assigned by the 1952 Legislature to make the recommendations. Effective date of the act would be Dec. 1. Svendsen said the bill calls for: 1. Boosting the maximum weekly payment to injured workers from $30 to $35.

2. Extending the present 400-week maximum of coverage for total disability to 800 weeks, with the second 400-week period arranged through court application.

3. Increasing death payments to families from the existing $30 a week during a maximum 300 weeks to $35 a week during 400 weeks, or from $90,000 to $14,000.

4. Putting all payments on a weekly basis and eliminating lump sum settlements.

5. Fixing burial expenses at $300, instead of the present $250 with an extra $50 allowed.

6. Providing voluntary arbitration for the first time.

7. Extending coverage, now limited to specified businesses and hazardous duty by adding a new number of specified businesses regardless of the number of workers and including all businesses with six or more employees. Public employees are included.

JACKSON, Miss., June 19 (AP)—A cross-section of Mississippi's loveliest girls—61 in all—will gather on the Gulf Coast Tuesday to begin competition for the sixth annual "Miss Hospitality" crown.

The first four days of the program will be held in Biloxi but the coronation Saturday by Gov. Hugh White will be held in Jackson for the first time.

The judges who view the record number of entrants will be Robert Crossley of Topoka, Kan., editor of Household Magazine; Ed Jones of Chicago, editor of Highway Traveler; and Miss Eleanor Nangle of Chicago, beauty columnist for the Chicago Tribune.

Judged on the basis of beauty, poise, personality and background, the winner will replace this year's titleholder, Miss Edna Khayat of Moss Point.

"Miss Hospitality" then will serve as Mississippi's goodwill ambassador for the next 12 months.

WINNSBORO, La., June 19 (Special)—Sheriff Hiram Waller will leave Winnsboro this week to attend a national sheriffs' convention in Washington, D. C. The convention opens June 27.

Sheriff Waller also attended the national convention last year in California. Ironically, while attending the 1953 convention, Sheriff Waller's brother, Deputy John L. Waller, was killed during a routine investigation in Wisner.

Joseph Sheffield has since been convicted and sentenced to die for the slaying of Deputy Waller.

Parish Employees To Get Vacations

Meeting in special session to promulgate the election returns, the Ouachita Parish police jury Friday morning voted 14 to one to grant all parish highway employees one week's vacation with pay. The employees must have been employed by the parish for at least one year.

The single dissenting vote was cast by F. G. Studdard, Ward 1. A. E. Montgomery, Ward 10, was out of town and unable to attend the meeting.

Negro Is Arrested On Weapon Charge

Chief of Detectives Hugh L. Tolbert reported yesterday that Dock Johnson, Negro, 312 Adams street, had been arrested on a charge of drawing and displaying a deadly weapon, a knife, when it could result in death or bodily harm.

According to the detective chief Johnson and Edith Mae Barnes, Negro, 908 Adams street, Johnson's common law wife, had separated. When the Barnes woman refused to return to Johnson's home, the Negro slashed her several times with a pocket knife.

She was taken to Charity Hospital where she was treated for knife wounds and released. Johnson was apprehended by detectives Saturday morning.

Scouts Open Season At Camp Ki-Ro-Li

One of the largest groups of scouts to ever participate in summer camp activities at Camp Ki-Ro-Li will begin a week's stay at the Ouachita Valley Council encampment near West Monroe this afternoon.

Approximately 120 boys, along with their leaders, are registered for the third week of the 1954 season at Ki-Ro-Li. Seven weeks of camping have been scheduled at the 140-acre site this summer.

While at Ki-Ro-Li, scouts participate in a program of instruction in scout skills and in recreational activities. A staff of adult leaders and top-ranking scouts direct the program.

Serving on the staff this summer are: Jim Simpson, field scout executive of Ruston, camp director; Charles Melabarger, district Scout executive of Monroe, business manager; Juan Watkins, Delhi; Kenneth Perkins, Monroe; and Arthur H. Matthews, Monroe; and the following scouts:

Skippy Buford, Hodge; Glenn Wayne Cobb, Jonesboro; Jimmy Anding, Ferriday; Hugh Willey, Delhi; Jimmy Branch, Monroe; Charles Norwood, Columbia; Ronald Dubois, Jonesboro; Bobby Nordan, West Monroe; Terry Gunn, Alexandria; John Richard Dunn, West Monroe; David Rogers, Bastrop.

Walter Briggs, West Monroe; Eugene Reppond, Marion; Elmo Gentry, Winnboro; Roger Dean, Monroe; Herman Young, Hodge; Linus Carroll, Columbia; Donald Medarles, Monroe; and Bill Turnbough, Gilbert.

Highlighting each week's activities are the Thursday night campfire programs in which new members are called out by the Order of the Arrow, national honor campers' organization, in a colorful Indian ceremony. Approximately 125 visitors were present at the program last Thursday night.

Tapped for membership in the organization during the first two weeks of camp were the following: Jimmy Anding and Scoutmaster W. J. Burris of Troop 17, Ferriday; Scoutmaster W. E. Person, Jr., of Troop 24, Waterproof; George Riser, Jr., Troop 28, Monroe; Charles Turner, Guy Cook and Assistant Scoutmaster George Myers of Troop 34, Monroe.

Warren Taylor and Vernon Jones, Troop 1, Monroe; Jimmy Life, Tommy Armistead and Assistant Scoutmaster Ellis White of Troop 2, Bastrop; Linus Carroll and Charles Norwood of Troop 9, Columbia; and Don Mears, Troop 10, West Monroe.

Units registered for camp this week, listed with their sponsoring institutions are: Troop 46, First Baptist Church, Ruston; Troop 189, First Baptist Church, Jonesboro; Troop 55, Lions Club, Tallulah; Troop 18, Rotary Club, Harrisonburg; Troop 127, Brownville Methodist Church, West Monroe; Troop 13, First Baptist Church, West Monroe; Troop 128, Southside Methodist Church, Monroe; Troop 188, Tremont Lumber Company, Joyce; Troop 57, Lions Club, Delhi; Troop 43, Kiwanis Club, Rayville; Troop 5, Presbyterian Church, Bastrop; and Troop 50, Citizens committee, Transylvania.

At Ki-Ro-Li during the first week were these units: Troop 56, Methodist church, Tallulah; Troop 34, First Methodist Church, Monroe; Troop 28, First Presbyterian Church, Monroe; Troop 17, Rotary Club, Ferriday; Troop 231, St. Paul's Methodist Church, Monroe; Troop 24, Rotary Club, Waterproof; and Troop 77, Rotary Club, Sicily Island.

Camping at the council camp during the second week were these units: Troop 10, West Monroe Lions Club; Troop 9, Kiwanis Club, Columbia; Troop 2, First Baptist Church, Bastrop; Troop 1, Knights of Columbus, Monroe; Troop 20, Baptist Church, Jonesboro; Troop 51, Rotary Club, Newellton; and Troop 9, Lions Club, Oak Grove.

Woman Accused Of Liquor Violations

A 48-year-old Monroe woman, Mrs. Calvin Forbes, was arrested by city police officers early Saturday on two charges of liquor violations. Bond was set at $250.

Sgt. Jack Hunnicutt and Officer J. L. Standard said they arrested Mrs. Forbes at the Home Lounge on Louisville avenue about 1:20 a.m. Saturday after they received a call that she was allegedly selling liquor in the lounge after the midnight closing hour.

The officers said four persons were drinking in the place when they arrived.

Mrs. Forbes was charged with having intoxicating liquor from under lock and key during prohibited hours, and with selling intoxicating liquor after hours.

HARRY C. MARTIN

Harry C. Martin Named President Of K. C. Council

Harry C. Martin has been elected grand knight of the Msgr. N. F. Vandegraaf Council No. 3642, Knights of Columbus of West Monroe. He succeeds Harold Shanas, who served as grand knight since the council's organization in April of 1953.

Clark Butler was elected deputy grand knight and Fred Barrett, chancellor. The other officers chosen included: M. T. Austin, recorder; John J. McCarthy, treasurer; Robert Swan, advocate; Vincent Sylvestri, warden; and Norman Many and C. E. Deville, guards. J. P. Bonar was named a trustee.

The newly elected officers will be installed at the meeting on July 5.

The Knights of Columbus is a fraternal order of Catholic men with a membership of close to one million. There are 103 councils in Louisiana. The knights have long been active in youth work and the Louisiana State Council sponsors a camp at Maryhill, near Alexandria, which will accommodate 350 campers during each of the nine one-week periods this summer.

300 Register In 'Between' Period

More than 300 persons have signed permanent registration forms since the precinct books were opened Wednesday. Mrs. Mae Lucky, Ouachita Parish registrar of voters, said Saturday. The books were opened Wednesday for a 10-day period following the 30-day closing period as required by law.

The books will be closed again next Saturday for a 30-day period prior to the election slated for July 27. Mrs. Lucky pointed out she will keep the office open until 5 p.m. Saturday in order that all who have not registered may do so.

Anyone not registered in the precinct books, which are duplicates of the permanent registration forms will not be eligible to vote on July 27.

FBI Seeking Man Held In Jail In Ouachita Parish

A man being held by the Ouachita Parish sheriff department for investigation is wanted by the Federal Bureau of Investigation in Michigan for transporting stolen vehicles across state lines. Sheriff Bailey Grant said Saturday. The man was identified as Erick A. Rhodes, 40, of Detroit, Mich. Grant said Rhodes was picked up by deputy sheriffs on an investigation of issuing worthless checks. Fingerprint information was sent to the FBI in Washington with a request for a reply by telegram. When the reply was returned to the local sheriff department, Grant said the man was being hunted for violation of the Dyer Act, which forbids moving stolen vehicles across any state line. The alleged car theft was reported to have occurred recently near Detroit.

Ellis Winds Up Campaign Tour Through N. La.

Frank B. Ellis, candidate for the U. S. Senate, yesterday wound up the fifth of a series of "meet the people" campaigns which has taken him into more than half the parishes of Louisiana.

Ellis, yesterday speaking to groups in Bastrop, Oak Grove, Lake Providence, Tallulah, Delhi, Rayville, and Winnboro, charged that Sen. Ellender had claimed credit for everything that has happened in Louisiana for the past 20 years.

He said that the incumbent had resorted to the "old political trick of using photos of various statewide projects to prove his point."

Specifically, Ellis pointed to the Bonnet Carre Spillway, which, said Ellis, "was begun, according to my recollection, two years before Sen. Ellender took office."

Ellis again challenged the senior senator to open debate.

"Friday evening, the senator appeared before Louisiana voters with a prepared motion picture script over television. I now challenge the senator to debate the problems of this state with me on the program 'Dateline: New Orleans' which has been offered by WDSU-TV as a matter of public interest. I have accepted this invitation and repeat my challenge to

Sen. Ellender to do likewise.

"On the same program," said Ellis, "the senator seriously criticized the Republican Farm Program. But yet, he refused to join me under my leadership as Democratic National Committeeman, to keep this state in the Democratic column in the past presidential campaign.

"This," he continued, "is the height of inconsistency and I doubt seriously the sincerity of his criticism of the Republican Farm Program."

"The senator talks a great case, but his record could not be determined as a record of great accomplishment as he would have the people of Louisiana believe."

Speaking in Oak Grove, Ellis said that here there "is just no reason to send the incumbent back to Washington because he has done a few favors for a number of rich and influential people of this state. "We need," he said, "a senator who represents all the people of this state, and certainly that includes and justifiably so, the great industrialists as well as the man on the hayrack."

Students From Ouachita At Tech Music Camp

RUSTON, June 19 (Special) — Nineteen Ouachita Parish high school students are registered for the annual Summer Camp of Music and Dramatics to be held at Louisiana Tech from July 5 through July 17.

Open for both boys and girls of high school age, the camp will combine recreation with study in music, twirling, radio, dramatics, art, journalism, photography, voice and other related studies. Camp students will be housed in the Tech dormitories.

L. V. E. Irvine, head of the Tech music department and camp director, reports that students have already registered from three states. He said that students have enrolled from 47 Louisiana cities and towns and there are several registered from Arkansas and Mississippi.

Monroe students enrolled for the camp include Sherry Harriet, Janice June Johnson, Betty Mantroz, Molly Naff, Brenda Sue Ringo, Linda Lou Robinson and Marcia Lynn Willis.

Students registered from West Monroe are Brenda Anne Bayles, John H. Brothers, John Douglas, Joy Emerel, Mary Ferguson, Beverly Kay Halsell, Gladys May Halsell, Guy Monroe, Susan Moore, Gwen Nelson, Carol Avalyn Wilhite and Glenda Sue Young.

Cerebral Palsy Clinic Signs Up 32 Youngsters

Thirty-two cerebral palsy children from nine northeast Louisiana parishes were registered yesterday at the clinic conducted here by the United Cerebral Palsy Association, J. Y. Pipes association president for this area reported. The clinic, according to Pipes, was designed to provide an accessible census of afflicted children in the area in order to make possible a thorough study of actual needs for facilities to properly treat the disease.

Of the children registered 16 were from Ouachita Parish. Richland and Morehouse parishes had three registrants each; Union, Lincoln, Franklin, and East Carroll parishes had two registrants each, while LaSalle, and Natchitoches had one registrant each.

Ages of the children registered ranged between one and 19 years with the two to six-year-old group accounting for over half those registered.

Thirteen of the registrants were boys, 19 were girls. Three of the children registered were Negroes.

Serving as registrars, the members of the Altrusa Club compiled a file on each child, containing all pertinent data about the victim and the illness. The file will be used by the medical examining board in their study of the child's case. The examining board is composed of a pediatrician, orthopedist, dentist, psychiatrist, and a general practitioner.

Pipes explained that clinics will be held in the near future to acquaint parents with the illness, and the care and training of cerebral palsy children. Clinics will also be held for the patients, he said.

During a previous clinic 32 other victims of the illness had been registered.

Any parents of cerebral palsy children, who were unable to register yesterday may do so by writing to the United Cerebral Palsy Association of Northeast Louisiana, Box 1305, Monroe.

U. S. representatives here said Chou's speech was a definite step backward in the talks. The Communists agreed five weeks ago to give priority to a cease-fire, and the conference has been operating on that basis ever since.

Father J. C. Marsh Tells Of Wide Travels

Becoming weary of long-continued sightseeing, delightfully instructive as it had proved, Rev. J. C. Marsh, pastor of St. Matthew's Catholic Church, decided to shorten his European trip to a month's time. Accordingly he surprised his church people and friends here by returning after four weeks. He left Monroe on May 10. Over an American airline he flew in luxury and with every desire satisfied, from New York to Athens, making stops at Paris, Geneva, Milan and Rome. He spent two days in Athens, visiting the salient points of interest that allure tourists and then flew on a six-hour trip to Cairo. There he enjoyed a close up on camel back to the Pyramids and viewed many elaborate mosques.

DeSiard, Grand Streets To Be Partly Closed

Pohlman and Wilbanks Construction Co., which for the last several days has been making improvements on the United Gas Company's distribution system in Monroe, will begin early this week to install a large gas main at the intersection of South Grand and DeSiard streets.

Motorists are requested to avoid the intersection whenever possible to prevent serious traffic congestion at that point.

According to Ed Pohlman, a company spokesman, a large, eight-inch gas main will be placed at the intersection and the work going on there will cut across DeSiard and South Grand.

The spokesman said large pieces of equipment will be at the intersection Monday and Tuesday of this week, impeding traffic through that point.

West Monrovia are requested to use the new traffic bridge, and to avoid using the thoroughfares near that point. Others are requested to use Third or Fourth streets instead of Grand when traveling north and south.

Major Jack Davis, traffic coordinator for the Monroe police department, is working closely with the construction company to prevent accidents and eliminate congestion.

Association For Retarded Group Elects Officers

Several new members from Monroe and surrounding territories were welcomed to the monthly meeting of the Northeast Louisiana Association for Mentally Retarded Children, which was held Tuesday at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Ike Hamilton in West Monroe. During the meeting officers were elected and, effective July 1, the association will become affiliated with the American National Association. Officers elected were: Ike Hamilton, president; Mrs. A. T. Givens, vice-president; Miss Doris Brown, corresponding secretary; and Mrs. O. J. Weeks, Sr., treasurer.

Delegates of the association attending the parents workshop in Baton Rouge this week end are Mr. and Mrs. A. L. Thompson of Delhi, Mr. and Mrs. A. T. Givens, and Mr. and Mrs. Ike Hamilton. This workshop is sponsored by the Louisiana Association for Retarded Children, and is being held at L. S. U. It is being led by the nation's outstanding authorities, and among the many personalities participating are Dr. Lloyd N. Yepsen, Ph. D., of New Jersey, and Dr. Oliver P. Kolstoe, Ph. D., of the University of Illinois.

The next meeting of the association will be held July 14, at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Givens of Monroe, and all interested persons are urged to attend.

Monthly Darbar Set For Monday

The regular monthly darbar will be held by Swami Santha No. 102 Nomads of Ayudhaka on Monday, June 21, at 8:00 p. m. in Castle Hall. Rani Katie Smith of Swami Santha No. 102 wants all Nomads to attend. Each Nomad is asked to bring in new applications.

After the regular darbar closes, all Nomads will retire to second floor where refreshments will be served and social hour held.

At Beirut there is a Jesuit university. Mt. Carmel was given a visit and an auto trip was taken to old Baalbeck in Syria where there are wonderful ruins still in fair preservation.

Damascus, a city of a half million, is termed the oldest city in the world that has been in continual habitation.

Here the visitor inspected the street called Straight, and a chapel that is nearby.

The trip to Amman was called a rough one but in time the river Jordan was reached and of course it was notable in that it was where John was baptized. Jerico, where the famous walls still were to be seen, was observed on the way to the Dead Sea.

The trip continued to Jerusalem, and along the way was the Good Samaritan Inn situated in the midst of a lonesome stretch of country. Jerusalem has about half a million population, the Arabs living in the old part and the Jewish people in the new part. A no man's land divides the two.

Mass was said in the Garden of Gethsemane and twelve olive trees still stand in a place where other trees are missing due to the fact that trees are visited with heavy taxation.

Five miles from Jerusalem is Bethlehem and there where Christ was born a mass was said. Above, one could imagine on the towering hills that the shepherds watched their flocks and the air seemed to resound with the song "Glory to God in the Highest."

Another mass was said at Mt. Calvary and again on "The Way of the Cross." A Greek church marks the Mount of Ascension and Mount of the Beatitudes.

Over in Bethany, a visit was paid to the spot where Martha and Mary once lived. In the Church of the Annunciation in Nazareth mass was said and not too far away, the Sea of Galilee was visited, where Jesus walked on the water.

At Tel Aviv, the capital of Israel, which grew up to a place of hundreds of thousands of people in a short space of time, is an amazingly modern city.

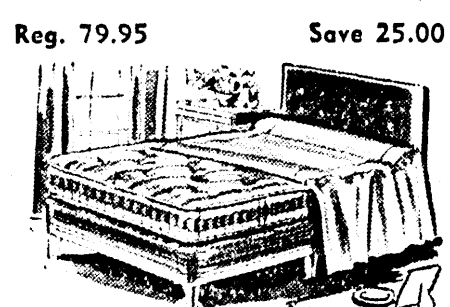

At this point, Reverend Marsh boarded a TWA plane for Rome, where he was present at the canonization of Pope Pius tenth. The crowds were enormous at this great historic event, fully a million people being gathered around the Vatican. The pope blessed the populace three times daily from his window.

Reverend Marsh said mass at St. Peter's and visited the catacombs. He was pleased to meet Mrs. Rolfe's daughter, whose husband is in the American Embassy. Also Bishop Greco was in Rome and greeted the Monroe priest while there.

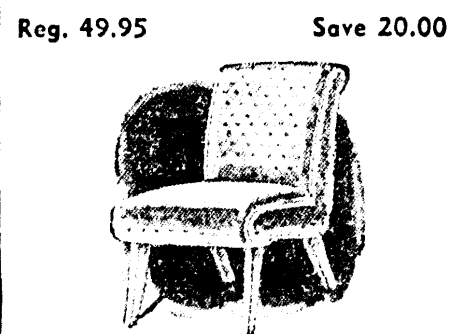

Madrid was the next port of call and was reached by plane that stopped at Tunis and Algiers. A day in Lisbon, Portugal, and a visit to the Fatima shrine was paid and a mass said at this famous place. That night, supper was held in Lisbon and breakfast was in New York.

Looks 'Em Over

One of north Louisiana's best known athletes and coaches has been named to succeed James L. Malone as head football coach at Northeast Louisiana State. We welcome Devone Payne back to Monroe, but, realizing the task before him, we don't envy him the job.

Payne first won athletic attention in this area as a prep star down at Crowley High, claimed wider fame when he made Little All-America at Louisiana College, and then began his advance in the coaching ranks via the high school routes of Gilbert, Winnsboro, Ouachita, Neville, and Tallulah, before going to Louisiana College as head football coach last year.

He was ticketed for the athletic directorship as well at Louisiana College in his second year of college coaching when Lennie Fant recently resigned that job at L. C., but he has accepted the challenge instead at Northeast.

The Northeast job is a challenge in every way, Malone, who recently resigned after 20 seasons as Indian head coach, had difficult times trying to build a winner in recent years, and his last Northeast outfit won only one, beating Northwestern, while losing nine.

The outlook for '54 is not considered bright. It will be a miracle if the Payne touch can show a club capable of winning more than it loses. However, Payne has displayed uncanny ability of developing players. Louisiana College was rated hardly better than Northeast at the beginning of the 1953 season, but Payne managed to squeeze out four wins against six losses in his first campaign as a college coach.

Unless the situation has changed at Northeast since our last report, Payne is going to have to get along with athletes drawn entirely from within the state. It seems there is a $200 fee due the Louisiana State Board of Education for each out-of-state athlete. Northeast, we understand, will be skipping out-of-state athletic scholarships to save this money. The Indians missed some of the better prep athletes since joining the Gulf States Conference because the school wasn't rich enough to pay the ten dollars spending money allowed on scholarships by the conference, and the talent went to other schools in the league which did offer the additional subsidy. It's possible that by saving the out-of-state fee, this money can be channeled into the spending money allowed athletes, if any such is available.

Maybe Payne has the answers. We know he has a big job ahead. He has been able to turn out, or assist in doing so, some of the finest prep athletes of this section.

He brought up Caleb Martin for Louisiana Tech and the professional Green Bay Packers; helped develop such Ouachita athletes as Richard Pate (Southwestern), J. M. McBeth (Northeast), Milam Towns (Texas), and Jerry Gregg (Northeast); Neville's stars George Roach, George Luffey and Charles Brown, all later at S. L. I., and Hugh Smith (L. S. U.); and worked up Tallulah's Noel Wilkins (All-Gulf States end at Southeastern), Bob Laird (L. S. U.), Billy Keller and Loyd Andrews (Northeast), and "Sonny" Clark (All-Gulf 2nd team as sophomore at Louisiana College), and Martin Merhagen (La. College).

We join Coach Payne's many friends in wishing him the best of fortune at Northeast.

Red Hose Finally Catch Indians For 6-3 Victory

CLEVELAND, June 19 (AP)—A two-run rally in the sixth inning and Jackie Jensen's ninth home run in the seventh inning gave the Boston Red Sox a 6-3 victory over the Cleveland Indians today, snapping the Tribe's winning streak at nine games.

It was Boston's first triumph over the Tribe this year after suffering nine defeats at the hands of the first place Clevelanders.

Devone Payne Named Coach At Northeast

Leaves Louisiana College To Take New Duties Here

Howard Devone Payne, head football coach at Louisiana College, has been named to succeed James L. Malone as head coach at Northeast Louisiana State College here, it was announced yesterday by Lewis C. Slater, Northeast president. Coach Malone resigned recently after 20 years as coach of the Indians to enter a Baton Rouge insurance firm.

President Slater said Coach Payne is currently attending summer school at Stephen F. Austin College, Nacogdoches, Tex., where he is doing work toward the master's degree in physical education, but he will officially begin his new duties here on July 1.

Payne, who previously coached at two high schools here, is well known throughout the state and was a former Little All-America player at Louisiana College where he had returned as head coach only last year after nearly 15 years as a coach in the high school ranks.

Coach Payne, who began his athletic career at Crowley High School, where he lettered in football, basketball and track, captained Crowley's teams in his junior and senior years as well as being named an all-state back. At Louisiana College, he earned his numerals in freshman football and track, then won varsity football and track letters three times and lettered twice in basketball. He was captain of the Wildcat eleven in his senior year when he was Little All-America and honorable mention on other All-America selections.

Upon graduation from college, he coached one year at Gilbert High and moved to Winnsboro in 1940 for two seasons, coaching football, basketball, and track, and turning out the Central Louisiana championship basketball team at Winnsboro in 1942.

Moving to Monroe in the fall of 1942, he served as assistant to Coach George Riser at Ouachita Parish High School for two years and was head basketball coach. He then moved to Neville High for one year as head coach before switching to Tallulah High where he was head coach for nine years until he accepted the position at Louisiana College a year ago.

Ouachita was in the double-A playoffs one year during his tenure with Coach Riser, and at Tallulah his teams won the northeast district football title six times, the north district crown six times, was runner-up for the state title four times and twice won the state championship. His high school teams compiled 135 wins and 130 losses and tied four. With Louisiana College last season his Wildcats won four and lost six while Northeast was winning only one out of ten.

Coach Payne married the former Miss Devone Beck of Alexandria in August, 1940, and they have three sons: Devone, Jr., age 12, Robert Charles, age 10, and Joe Beck, age 18 months.

We join Coach Payne's many friends in wishing him the best of fortune at Northeast.

Betty Jameson Defeats Louise Suggs For Title

WAUKEGAN, Ill., June 19 (AP)—Betty Jameson shed her runner-up role with a vengeance today to crush defending champion Louise Suggs 6 and 5 in the Women's Western Open—her first tournament victory in 18 months.

Miss Jameson, silver-haired, 37-year-old veteran from San Antonio, Tex., was in charge of the scheduled 36-hole finale nearly from the start.

Her main weapons were a wedge and a rusty, hickory shaft blade putter, a gift two months ago from Pat Jackson, who had used it to win the Texas Open.

Betty, a second-place finisher in three of her last four tournaments before she cashed in for the Western's $1,000 first prize, wedged her short approaches and chip shots so accurately she registered 13 one-putts in handling the little campaigner from Atlanta one of her sharpest defeats in years.

Miss Jameson thus avenged a 5 and 4 licking Miss Suggs pinned on her in the finals of the 1949 Western Open. The Texan also was a runner-up in the meet in 1952, losing 1-up to Betty Rawls. She won the title in 1942.

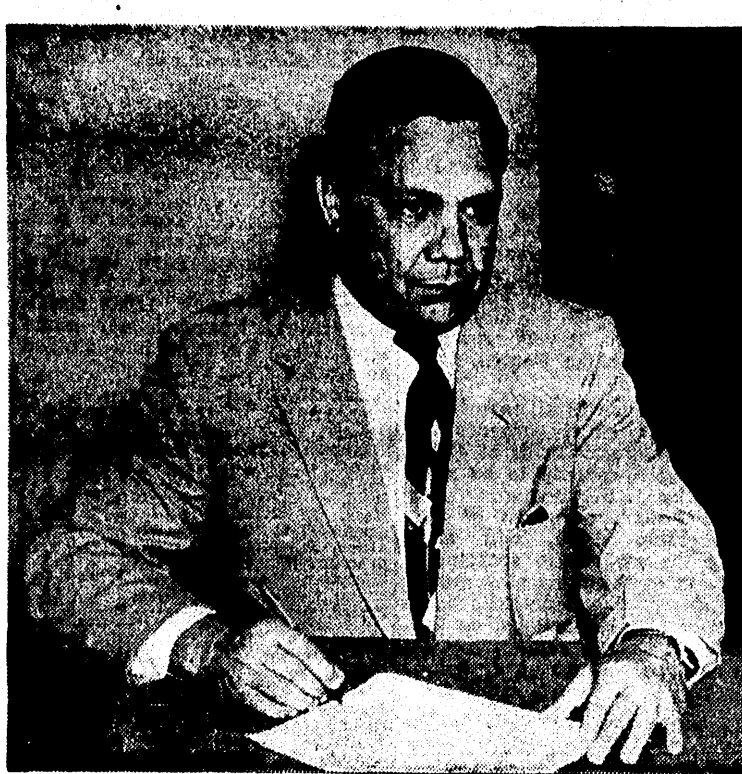

Louise, winner of five tournaments this season and leading the women pro's money race, was constantly in trouble in the long rough and traps that plague the par 38-75 Glen Flora course throughout its 6,550-yards.

Cook, Vance Top 5-Match Fistic Card On Thursday

Clarence Cook, the Oak Grove battler who is Ring magazine's June listee as "middleweight prospect of the month," gets the toughest assignment of his pro career Thursday night against Babe Vance, Los Angeles veteran of 31 pro fights, in the main event of the "Twin Cities Boxing Club's" inaugural production at the Ouachita Valley Fair Grounds.

Vance, who has beaten some of the best on the coast, has just completed a tour of Texas, scoring victories over Al "Red" Horton, Danny Gardenas, Tony Gonzales, and earned a tremendous draw with Rocky Gabelero.

Although Vance is better known for a flashy boxing style, he has knocked out such outstanding fighters as Joe Herrera, Eddie Hernandez, Ruben Garcia, Roy Granado and Rudy Rodriguez, all high ranking west coast veterans.

Babe has been stopped only once—by Manuel Castillo, challenger for the California welterweight title.

SPRINGFIELD, N. J., June 19 (AP)—Crooked-armed Ed Furgol won the 54th National Open Golf championship with a dramatic 284 today as the hopes of two young pros, Gene Littler and Dick Mayer, died on the 72nd hole.

Furgol had four steady rounds of 71, 70, 71 and 72 over Baltusrol's energy-taxing acres to break Ben Hogan's bid for a fifth championship.

The victory by the 37-year-old pro from Clayton, Mo., whose left arm is ten inches shorter than his right, might well have signaled the end of the "Hogan Era" in golf. Hogan, playing wretchedly, finished out of the running.

Hogan had final rounds of 67 and 72 for 280, five strokes back of the champion. Stiff-necked Sam Snead was still farther back at 280 after finishing tours of 72 and 73. He never threatened. Par for Baltusrol's 7,027-yard course is 34-36-70.

Twin Cities Again Defeat Hot Springs, 11-8

Four Home Runs Feature 12-Hit Sports' Attack

HOT SPRINGS, Ark., June 19 (AP)—The Hot Springs Bathers lost their fourth game in a row in the Cotton States League here last night, the Monroe Sports tripping them 11 to 8.

Monroe tallied four home runs to stay ahead of the Bathers most of the game. Centerfielder Frank Marinkovich slammed out two homers in consecutive trips to the plate, one in the fifth inning with nobody on and the other in the seventh with one on.

ACQUIRE PITCHER

Dick Marshall, a left-handed pitcher, has been added to Twin Cities Sports roster and is on the current road tour with Manager Ed Head's outfit. Marshall, only recently returned from military service in Korea, came to the Sports on option from Birmingham, N. Y., a Yankee farm hand, the report from Lee MacPhail, Yankee scout, that "He will definitely help you."

The Hot Springs club came from behind to take a brief lead in the seventh inning. They chalked up five runs on three hits, including a three-run homer by centerfielder Bob Adeock and a two-run single by catcher Jackie Bales. But Monroe bounced back in the eighth to take the lead from them on out.

Return Relay Grapple Tuesday's Main Event

Pat "Big Boy" Cronin and his partner, Danny Dusek, defeated Indian Chief Apache and Jackie Fargo last week at Gus Kallio's Arena; but they won on a glaring foul by Cronin when Referee Bill Barney had his back turned, and thus their purse was held up by Commissioner Dave Silverstein. Therefore, the same quartet will wrestle a rematch Tuesday at the Arena, with a pair of judges inside to watch for any illegal tactics.

With the match last week standing at one fall apiece, Dusek and the Indian were going at it hammer and tongs when they bumped heads, knocking each other groggy. With both flat on their backs, it was only a question of who recovered first to fall on his opponent for the match - deciding pin. So happened that Apache gained his feet first, but as he staggered toward Danny for the finisher, "Big Boy" reached over the ropes and clouted the Chief on the jaw, flooring him easily. Barney, while this was happening, had his back turned, trying to keep the Fargo Kid in his corner. In the meantime, Dusek crawled over to the Chief, who was now doubly groggy from the unexpected blow from Cronin, and fell on for the match-end.

The fans booed and booed, but the decision stood. Cronin howled when his money was held back, but both he and Dusek agreed to the return bout Tuesday.

The usual two preliminaries open the program at 8:15, with rival main-eventers warming up in the one-fall to win, ten minute time limit bouts.

Little League races in West Monroe began tightening up yesterday, especially in the North circuit where three teams are tied for first as the result of yesterday's games in which Bancroft Paper scored its first victory, beating Pulp and Paper Makers Union, 28-12, and Louisiana Power and Light outlasted People's Loan, 11-10.

Dave Norris hit 4-for-5 in leading the Bancroft victory for a battery of Manning and Redding. Colt and Jackson was the Pulp and Paper battery.

James Kyle, with 4-for-4, and Billy Weber, with 3-for-3, led a 20-hit attack for Louisiana Power. Butch Lebrano got three hits for People's Loan. Patton and Ray was the winning battery, Chapman and Lebrano the loser.

Colbert's Hardware and First National Bank share the lead in the South League, half a game over Hogan's Grocery after Colbert's beat J. C. Steele Lumber, 8-2, and the Bankers tripped Hogan's, 7-4.

Fox, with two hits, including a triple led the First National victory and was also the winning pitcher. Roark was his catcher, Haile, and Van Zile, both of Hogan's, were the game's top hitters with 3-for-3. Butler and Longino was the losing battery.

Leon Miletello batted and pitched for the Colbert's victory. He got three hits and good bat support from R. Sims. Dowdy was the Colbert catcher. The Steele battery was Fields and Harpitt.

Wildlife's Big Fish Fry Dated Next Saturday

The annual fish fry by the Ouchida unit of the Louisiana Wildlife Federation, arranged by committee chairman H. V. Johnson, will be held next Saturday night, beginning at 8 o'clock, at Bernstein Park, it was reported yesterday by Jake Benton, unit president.

The fry, open to all members, will include on its program a motion picture, "Thrills of Fishing," and a comedy to be presented by J. B. Thoman.

Bob Fuller, chairman of the membership drive, will also make the awards to sportsmen bringing in the most members this year. Prominent speakers will also be included on the program, Benton said.

Fry reservations are being taken by Bud Tidwell, unit secretary, at telephone 2-0086, and Thoman, 3-3200.

Sonny And Jim Harper Are Hosts To Dance At Lonewar

Summer vacation for the sub-deb crowd started in a gay fashion last week with the dance Sonny and Jim Harper gave at the plantation home of their parents, Mr. and Mrs. Edward Harper last Friday evening.

The crowd gathered at Neville High School, where the ten mile drive to "Lonewar" was made in two buses. They were chaperoned by Mr. and Mrs. Edward Wheeler and Mr. and Mrs. Bill Goldsmith. The spacious lower floor of the plantation home was decorated with hundreds of magnolia blossoms and garlanded with smilax. Here Mel Spain and his orchestra played for dancing from 8 until 11 o'clock.

In the dining room, the punch table held a large bouquet of red and white summer flowers for the centerpiece. Punch, sandwiches and cakes were served during the evening. Assisting Mr. and Mrs. Harper were Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Perry, Mr. and Mrs. Bishop Johnson, Mr. and Mrs. M. S. Dixon, Mrs. Irene Reid and Mr. and Mrs. Jim Cox.

Two Parties In Columbia Fete Brides

Mrs. Edgar Duke and Miss Bert Hearn of Columbia entertained at a luncheon honoring Miss Madeline Tarver, bride-elect of Urania.

The luncheon table held a bridal parasol filled with summer flowers, with nosegays reaching the length of the table. The honoree's place was marked with a corsage.

Attending the party with Miss Tarver were Mrs. O. H. Watson, Mrs. Earl Mullin, Mrs. Robert Holaday, Mrs. Clayton James, Jr., Mrs. Billy Kitchens, Mrs. Tommy McDaniels, and Miss Elizabeth Ann McDaniel.

Another lovely party in Columbia was the tea given by Mrs. Holmes Mouser, and Mrs. Sidney Seegars of Monroe in the Mouser home last Friday. The party was honoring Miss Dorothy Seegars of Shreveport. Arrangements of roses and daisies were used in the house. For this occasion Mrs. Williams was wearing a dress of ivory lace.

About thirty guests called during the party hours.

Give a new twist to simple vanilla pudding by adding a couple of spoonfuls of instant coffee to the mix. For richness, add a half cup of whipped cream to the pudding after it has begun to cool.

Church Ceremony Unites Jane Tidwell, Mr. Chappell

One of the loveliest weddings of the month of June was solemnized Thursday morning, June 10 at St. Matthews Catholic Church, when Miss Jane Yvonne Tidwell, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Steele Tidwell, Jr. became the bride of Harry Blake Chappell, son of Mr. and Mrs. Dennis Chappell of West Monroe.

Reverend Dennis A. Curran officiated and Mrs. Della Williams, organist, accompanied Charles Bigger, who sang, "Ave Maria" and "March of Pontificate." The altar of the church were banked with calla lilies and branches of delaware holding tall tapers were at either side. Mr. Tidwell gave his daughter in marriage.

The bride wore a waltz length gown of Chantilly lace over tulle. The bodice was fashioned with a scalloped neckline of lace and the very full skirt held delicate inserts of nylon pleats. Her fingertip veil of illusion was held in place by a Juliet cap, trimmed in seed pearls. She carried an orchid showered with tuberoses and satin ribbons atop a mother of pearl prayer book.

Miss Pat Sanders, maid of honor wore a crystal dress of ice blue made with a shirred bodice and bouffant skirt of waltz length. A matching Juliet cap of crystal and a crescent shaped bouquet of Carol Ambling roses and stephanotis tied with pink mauline ribbons completed her costume. The bridesmaids, Miss Anita O'Kelly and Miss Martha Nell Chappell, sister of the bridegroom, wore dresses identical to the honor attendant. Miss Mary Lee La Cour of Opelousas, cousin of the bride was flower girl. Her dress was made like the attendants' frocks. She carried a blue straw basket filled with roses.

The best man was Hal D. Bynum of Shreveport and the ushers were King Trischman of Lake Providence and Sam Edminston.

Following the ceremony a reception was held in the home of the bride's grandmother, Mrs. A. S. Tidwell on Jackson Street. The receiving rooms were decorated with bouquets of white flowers, calla lilies, asters and daisies. The bride's table was centered with a tiered wedding cake and at either side were branched candelabra, holding tall white tapers. Epergnettes, filled with white asters and fever few were at the ends of the table. Those serving were: Mrs. Pat Thompson, Mrs. John Lacey, Miss Kay McCue, Mrs. Roy McCue, Mrs. Vernon La Cour, Mrs. Ruth Hundley, Mrs. Walter Knapp, Mrs. Louise Walker, Mrs. J. C. Lolley, Miss Juanita Porter, Mrs. Otto Passman, Mrs. J. C. Steele, Sr. and Mrs. E. P. Cudd.

When Mrs. Chappell left for her wedding trip she was wearing a champagne beige suit of shantung with matching straw hat and brown accessories. She pinned the orchid from her bridal bouquet with a gold cluster pin of pearls, a gift of the bridegroom on her shoulders. After a short wedding trip, Mr. and Mrs. Chappell will be at home in Boulder Colorado, where he will be on the faculty of the University of Colorado.

The bride is a graduate of Neville High School and attended M. S. C. S. in Columbus, Miss. She is a graduate of Mississippi Southern in Hattiesburg, Miss. and a member of Delta Beta Sigma and Chi Omega social sororities. The bridegroom graduated from Ouachita Parish High School and received his B. S. degree from Louisiana Tech in Ruston. He was affiliated with Pi Kappa Alpha social fraternity, Omicron Delta Kappa, national leadership fraternity and Alpha Pi Epsilon, honorary biological fraternity.

Out of town guests attending the wedding were Mr. and Mrs. Ed Gilbert, Miss Bobbie Gilbert and Miss Sherry Ann Gilbert of Shreveport, Bill Sallee, Shreveport, Miss Maureen Linquist, Houston, Tex., Mrs. Vernon La Cour and Miss Mary Lee La Cour, Vernon La Cour, Jr., of Opelousas, Mrs. Larry Pike, Shreveport, Mrs. R. S. Stricklin, Rockport, Tex., and Mrs. C. I. Kirby of Hosston.

MEMBERS OF THE WEDDING PARTY of the Chappell-Tidwell wedding which was solemnized last week, were Miss Anita O'Kelly, bridesmaid, Miss Pat Sanders, maid of honor and Miss Martha Nell Chappell, sister of the bridegroom, bridesmaid. Miss Mary Lee La Cour, cousin of the bride, of Opelousas, was the flower girl.

Malone-Morris Vows Exchanged In Start Church

In an informal double ring ceremony at Start Baptist Church, Miss Doris Elaine Morris, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ora L. Morris of Rayville, became the bride of James Gregory Malone, son of Mr. and Mrs. Jesse B. Malone of Crew Lake.

The bride was attired in a white linen model with an overdress and corsage of pink carnations. Her accessories were of navy.

Only a few intimate friends and close relatives attended the ceremony performed by the Rev. James S. Deal, pastor of the Start Baptist Church.

The bride is a recent graduate of Rayville High School. Mr. Malone graduated from Start High School and attended Northeast State College in Monroe.

The couple departed on a wedding trip to points in Texas, immediately following the ceremony.

BPW Make Plans For Club Year

The regular business meeting of the Business and Professional Women's Club was in the Mirror Room of the Frances Hotel June 8. President Inas Harrington called the meeting to order, after which Mary Gene Lea, first vice-president, outlined the program for the new year. She pointed out the membership participation will be stressed and the entire program will be aimed at helping the individual develop her highest point of efficiency in the business world.

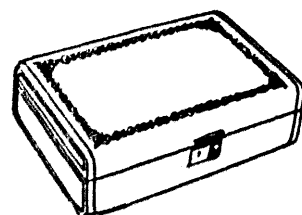

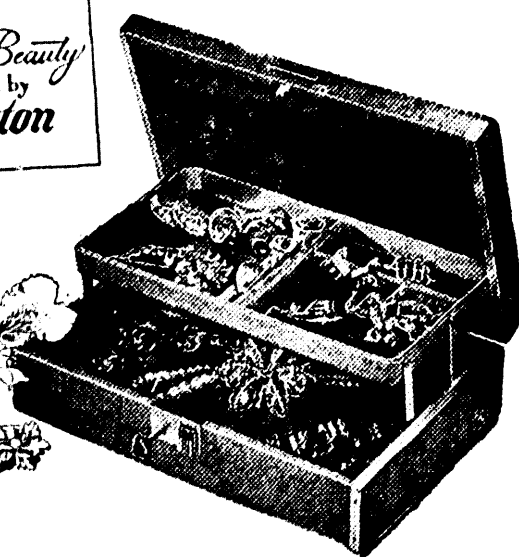

President Harrington announced committee chairmen, co-chairmen, and members to serve on the various committees. Delegates and board members who attended state convention in Shreveport reported on different phases of the convention. Mrs. Helen Trichel reported on the finance workshop; Mrs. Mary Gene Lea on the program workshop; Mrs. Edna Vaughan on the business meetings; Mrs. Ruth Cooley on the banquet; Mrs. Lucille Mathis on the Sunday breakfast. It was announced a board meeting will be held July 12. The club voted to continue its practice of sponsoring a girl to attend Pelican State.

The following members were present: Alice Baur, Lucille Mathis, Laura Slater, Ruth Cooley, Hazel Wakefield, Bettie Oxford, Bessie Skinner, Mamie Ober, Agnes Krogmire, Mary O'Kelly, Clara Dennis, Ouida Oxford, Dorothy Blacketer, Mary Gene Lea, Inas Harrington, Edna Vaughan, Carolyn Oliver, Helen Trichel, Gladys Miles, Mrs. Evelyn Atkinson of Houston, Tex., and a former member of the Monroe club was given a warm welcome.

Meeting adjourned with the singing of the club song.

If you plan to close your home while vacationing this summer, here are a few "don't forgets" many people overlook: Don't forget to store candles in a cool place, guard books against mildew by leaving charcoal to absorb dampness, take in screens and store matches in a metal container.

Sara Ellen Bruno Becomes Bride Of William Bottorff

In a beautiful morning wedding, Miss Sara Ellen Bruno pledged her marriage vows to William Vaughan Bottorff at the altar of St. Matthews Catholic Church, June 12th at nine o'clock.

The Rev. Msgr. Marsh officiated at the double ring ceremony. Miss Bruno is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Nicholas Bruno and the granddaughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. Frank Guerriero, Sr., and the great granddaughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. W. G. Miller. Mr. Bottorff is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Frank A. Howard and the grandson of Mrs. Margie Tingle and the late William Tingle of Ringgold.

The altars of the church were banked with blush pink gladioli and pale pink carnations in large fan shaped arrangements. Tall tapers burned at either side.

Mrs. Briscoe Trousdale Jr. sang Ave Maria and Pavis Angelicus accompanied by Mrs. Robert Bliss, organist.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride was beautiful in an exquisite wedding gown of blush quill lace with a full bouffant skirt and fitted princess bodice. The dainty neckline was accented by graceful scallops. To mold the waltz length dress, the fitted lace sleeves pointed at the finger tips, complimented the bridal dress. Her fingertip veil of illusion in soft blush pink was held in place by an imported chantilly lace half hat encrusted in sequins and pearls. She wore a beautiful string of pearls, a gift from the bridegroom.

The bride carried an ivory prayer book topped with a beautiful petal pink hybrid orchid with graceful pink stephanotis falling in cascade effect and streamers of blush pink satin ribbon. The tradition of something old, something new, something borrowed, something blue and in her shoe was carried out by the bride.

Mrs. Charles Ammer was matron of honor, Miss Helen Wilds and Miss Yvonne Brett were bridesmaids. The dresses of all three attendants were identical. Featuring in color dogwood pink, the ballerina length crystalles had molded bodices with wide mid-ribs. Folds of crystalles gracefully composed the full skirts. They carried cascade bouquets of garret roses with pink nylon and satin ribbons.

The reception immediately followed the ceremony in the Canteen Room of the Virginia Hotel and blended perfectly with the theme of the wedding, by featuring a blush pink floral scheme. A large graceful arrangement of blush pink gladioli and carnations graced the mantle.

The guests entering the reception room extended congratulations to the bride and groom, attendants, and parents.

The cake table, presided over by Mrs. Frank Guerriero and Mrs. Louise Gilliland, was beautifully decorated with garlands of dainty greenhouse smilax caught at the corners with pale pink carnations and blush pink satin ribbon. A beautiful three-tiered pink embossed wedding cake topped with sugar wedding bells and lilies of the valley was encircled with smilax and pink carnations.

On the punch table was an old fashioned coach drawn by prancing pink deer, in which proudly rode a miniature bride and groom. A sign on the back of the coach read, "Just Married." Petal pink carnations gracefully flowed from the windows of the coach. Emerald jade palms formed the background for the table. Miss Mae Coker presided at the punch bowl.

Serving the guests during the receiving hours were Miss Joan Sugar, Mrs. John Lee Kincaid of Winnaboo, Mrs. Frank Buckley and Mrs. Ted Ferrand of New Orleans.

Mrs. Dan Neill presided at the bride's book.

For traveling, the bride changed to a lovely dress suit of silken cotton, of Dior blue with hat and accessories of white and wore the orchid from the bridal bouquet.

The honeymoon will be spent in the Smokey Mountains and upon their return they will make their home in Monroe in an apartment on North Fifth street.

The groom is a graduate of Neville High School and Louisiana Tech in Ruston where she was affiliated with Alpha Chi Omega social sorority and is a certified kindergarten teacher at Barkdull Faulk school.

The groom is a graduate of Neville High School and is connected with the Southern Bell Telephone Company. He returned last October after serving 33 months overseas in the U. S. Army.

Out of town guests for the wedding were: Mrs. Margie Tingle, Ringgold, Mr. and Mrs. Fred Knapp, Phoenix, Ariz.; Mr. and Mrs. Joe Bruno of New Orleans, Mr. Victor Bruno, New Orleans; Mrs. John Lee Kincaid, of Winnaboo; Mr. and Mrs. Leonard LaHite, and son of New Orleans and Mrs. Ted Ferrand, also of New Orleans.

Lt. Reynolds Weds Miss March In Little Rock

Friends in Monroe will be interested in the marriage of Andrew Jackson Reynolds, Lt. U. S. Marine Corps, son of Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Gunn of Gulf Port, Miss., formerly of Monroe, to Miss Dolores Rosine March, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. E. D. March. The ceremony was performed last Saturday in St. Edwards Catholic Church in Little Rock.

The Rev. Anthony Lachowsky of Rock Castle, Va., cousin of the bride, officiated. Mrs. Philip Martin and Miss Sarah Grace Martin were soloists and Mrs. George Usery, organist, played the wedding music.

The bride was given in marriage by her father. She wore a dress of white imported embroidered nylon tulle over white taffeta. The V-neckline was edged with a tiny ruffle and the skirt had cascading ruffles of the scalloped embroidered tulle which ended in a cathedral train. The finger-tip illusion veil was caught to her head with a tiara of pearls and rhinestones and her bouquet was fashioned of embroidered tulle leaves, centered with a white orchid encircled in valley lilies and Stephanotis.

Miss Dorothy Janik of Kansas City, Kan., maid of honor, was in apple green orsandy over taffeta. The strapless bodice was covered with a bolero jacket. Her bouquet was of rose pink carnations and she wore a matching halo in her hair.

Mrs. J. O. Blaty of Little Rock, Miss Edith Rose of Conway, and Miss Diana Bowers, also of Little Rock, were the attendants. Mrs. Blaty was in pink orsandy. Miss Rose in blue, and Miss Banks in yellow. Their flowers and halos harmonized with their frocks. Debie Blaty, flower girl, was in pale blue orsandy.

Eugene McConville of Oklahoma City, was best man, and groomsmen included Lt. Joseph Morgan of Erwin, Tenn., U. S. Air Force; Ensign George McKee of Shepherdstown, W. Va., U. S. Navy; James Sontag of Tulsa, and George Louis Balmat of Newport, Ark.

The reception was held in the Mirror Room of the Albert Pike Hotel. Baskets of white gladioli were placed at vantage points and the beauty table was centered with the wedding cake surrounded by small nosegays of pastel carnations. Assisting were Miss Virginia Stark, Heber Springs; Miss Josephine Faist, Alexander, Ark.; Mrs. Ted N. Powell, Oklahoma City, and Mrs. Charles Churchwell of this city. Miss Carolyn Crye of Knoxville, Tenn., had charge of the bride's book.

After a trip to New Orleans, the newlyweds will be at home in Quantico, Va. Lieutenant Reynolds graduated June 4 from the U. S. Naval Academy, Annapolis, Md.

Apartment For Working Girl Offers Privacy

A one-room "apartment" under the family roof has practical as well as psychological advantages for the young working girl who lives at home.

If she has her sights set on a future career as homemaker (and most girls I know do) she can develop her housekeeping skills and create a nucleus of furnishings for a future home.

Such an "apartment" also affords her the privacy to entertain her friends and some independence from family routine. This is a privilege which most young women feel they're entitled to when they are grown-up enough to hold down a full-time job.

Grant-Aucoin Vows Pledged In Denham Springs Church

Miss Rita Nell Aucoin became the bride of Frederick William "Ted" Grant in an impressive double ring ceremony performed at 10 o'clock Saturday morning, June 12 at the First Methodist Church in Denham Springs. Miss Aucoin is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Leslie Aucoin of Baton Rouge and the bridegroom's parents are Mr. and Mrs. Fred M. Grant of West Monroe.

The Rev. Edward R. Thomas officiated at the service. Floor baskets of white gladioli with pom-pom chrysanthemums decorated the church. An arrangement of the white gladioli and chrysanthemums also adorned the altar. Family pews were marked with white satin ribbons.

Mrs. J. C. Neal presented nuptial music at the organ and accompanied Mrs. Edward R. Thomas who sang "O Promise Me," "Because," and "The Lord's Prayer."

Given in marriage by her father, the bride was lovely in a waltz-length gown of nylon tulle ascending into a bodice of hand-clipped rosepoint lace highlighted by a delicately tucked yoke and tiny lace collar. The back featured tiny self-covered buttons to the waist line. Her long pointed sleeves were detailed with covered buttons and her veil was of imported silk illusion delicately fashioned to frame her face. Lily of the valley sprays surrounded by shirred illusion offset the cap of the veil which fell to a finger-tip length. Her bouquet was of white roses with mallow and satin arranged on a white Bible.

Mrs. Eugene W. Shaffer, Jr., sister of the bride, was matron of honor. Her gown was also a waltz-length model of yellow net and lace with matching shoes and gloves. Her headpiece was a bandeau of yellow ruffled net. She carried a bouquet of lavender iris tied with yellow ribbons.

Miss Ann Rinehart of West Monroe, was the junior bridesmaid. Her gown was also of lavender net and lace made similar to the other bridesmaids. Her bouquet was of yellow iris.

The bridegroom's father, Mr. Fred M. Grant, was best man. Ushers were James Herbert Rinehart and R. C. Willbanks, both of West Monroe.

Mrs. Aucoin chose for her daughter's wedding a blue embroidered cotton with white accessories and a corsage of Garnet roses. Mrs. Grant, the bridegroom's mother, was becomingly attired in a lavender printed sheer model with white accessories and a corsage of lavender and white carnations.

A reception followed the ceremony in the church parlor. The bride's table was covered with net over white and centered with an arrangement of summer flowers corresponding to the colors in the attendants' dresses. The punch bowl was placed at one end of the table opposite the five-tiered wedding cake which contained good luck tokens tied with ribbons and miniature bells.

Miss Elaine Hyde presided at the bride's register. Presiding at the punch service was Mrs. W. A. Hall and serving the wedding cake was Mrs. Angus Anderson. Tea girls were Lo Anna Biers, Joyce McGehee and Brenda Rose Shaffer who was junior tea girl.

For a wedding trip to the Gulf Coast, the bride changed to a pink linen sheath model with a matching bolero. With it she wore a pink straw hat, white accessories and the corsage from her bridal bouquet.

They will make their home in Baton Rouge.

The bride is a graduate of Woodlawn High School and Baton Rouge Business College.

Mr. Grant attended West Point and graduated from Louisiana State University where he was a member of Lambda Chi Alpha fraternity.

Rehearsal Party
Mrs. Grant, mother of the bridegroom and his aunt, Mrs. James Herbert Rinehart entertained at a rehearsal party Friday night preceding the ceremony.

The tables were decorated with a miniature bride and groom under an arch entwined in satin ribbon and centered with small wedding bells. A miniature bride and groom also marked the places for the bridal couple. White candles, gardenia and greenery were attractively arranged at points along the length of the table.

The bride and groom exchanged wedding presents at this time and presented their attendants with gifts. Enjoying the occasion with the honor couple and hostesses were members of the families and wedding party.

Church Ceremony Unites Couple In Clarence

Miss Dorothy Irene Vercher, daughter of Mrs. G. B. Davis of Clarence and Mr. W. A. Vercher of Natchitoches, became the bride of Charles Franklin Hammons, Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. C. F. Hammons of Downsville. In a candlelight ceremony performed at the Clarence Baptist Church, the Rev. H. B. Gorum, Jr., officiated.

Magnolias, English ivy and shasta daisies decorated the church chancel. The altar was entwined in ivy and shasta daisies and flanked by baskets of mammoth daisies. A myriad of cathedral tapers completed the setting.

Miss Jean Burkhalter presented the nuptial music and accompanied Mrs. Elizabeth Lee Whitney as she sang "Because," "I Love You Truly" and "The Lord's Prayer."

The bride was attired in a waltz-length white lace over taffeta wedding gown fashioned with a fitted bodice and standing collar which rolled into a sweetheart neckline. The long fitted sleeves came to points over the wrist. She was given in marriage by her father and carried a white orchid bouquet surrounded by split carnations and streamers mounted on a white Bible.

Miss Merle Vercher, the bride's sister, was maid of honor. She wore a pink embroidered organza over taffeta with a fitted bodice and sweetheart neckline.

Bridesmaids were Mrs. Billy Hammons and Mrs. Tillery Flynt. Mrs. Hammons was attired in a green taffeta model and Mrs. Flynt wore a yellow dress both fashioned similar to the bride's.

Jimmy Raynes served as ring bearer. The best man was Billy Hammons, brother of the bridegroom. Ushers were James K. Raynes, brother of the bride and Alvis Shelby. The candles were lighted by Herman Ragan and Harry Lane Miley.

A reception followed the wedding in the church social room. The bride's table was overlaid with a hand crocheted cloth over pink linen. Centering the table was a large arrangement of pink hydrangeas and snapdragons. The punch bowl and four-tiered wedding cake, topped by a miniature bride and groom were placed opposite each other.

Assisting in serving at the reception were Mrs. Eddie Gallien and Miss Evelyn Youngblood. Presiding at the punch service was Miss Betty Curtis. The bride's register was kept by Mrs. James K. Raynes.

The bride's mother chose for the occasion a grey crepe dress with white carnations and white accessories. The bridegroom's mother was wearing a black chiffon with white accessories and white carnations.

Rehearsal Supper
Mr. and Mrs. G. B. Davis entertained members of the wedding party at a rehearsal supper in their home.

Spring flowers decorated the reception rooms. Centering the table was an arrangement of white shasta daisies flanked by crystal candelabra and pink tapers.

Enjoying the occasion with the hosts and bride couple were: Rev. and Mrs. H. B. Gorum, Jr., and Bonnie; Mrs. C. F. Hammons; Mr. and Mrs. Billy Hammons; Mr. and Mrs. Tillery Flynt; Mr. and Mrs. Eddie Gallien; Mr. and Mrs. Alvis Shelby; Mr. and Mrs. James K. Success Story

--- AND A GOOD TIP FOR YOU

WHEN it comes to sales, every car maker aspires to be up at the top of his price class.

Which is only natural. Popularity like that means success.

We know, because for years Buick has held such an envied position — the unquestioned sales leader in its class. And with good reasons in styling, room, power, value.

But today, folks like you have pushed Buick success even beyond such bounds.

Today, the top sales standings of a full generation have been changed.

Today, latest sales figures for the first four months of 1954 reveal this phenomenal fact:

In total national volume, regardless of price class, Buick is outselling all cars in America except two of the so-called "low-price three."

That's a tip too good to pass up.

That's the tip-off that Buick must have the hottest styling of the times and the sweetest performance of the year.

More important, that's the tip-off that Buick prices are well within the reach of more and more people — and that such prices buy a lot more automobile per dollar.

So why not look into the tomorrow-styled Buick that puts you so far ahead today?

Come in, or phone us this week for a demonstration. Then you can judge for yourself that Buick really is the beautiful buy — by far.

MISS BEVERLY JEAN VOLLMAN'S betrothal to Roger Kimball, son of Mrs. C. R. Kimball and the late Mr. C. R. Kimball of Mangham, La., is announced today by her mother, Mrs. Camille Vollman. The wedding will be solemnized June 25th.

News From The Public Library

Another group of new fiction titles during the past week. There are titles added to the collection of books for every taste and type. The Ouachita Parish Public Library of reader. Surely there is something that each reader of this column will want to read.

John Steinbeck is one of the outstanding modern novelists and he varies his theme considerably. His latest work is called "Sweet Thursday" and in this book he returns to his beloved Monterey County, the scene of cannery row. This is a book to be read for pure pleasure and enjoyment. Another book to be read for pure enjoyment is "The Loving Meddler" by Raymond Marshall. This is the warm and witty story of what happened when a group of unsuspecting adults got caught in the toils of an unscrupulous little girl.

Stories with a Louisiana setting are always popular with our patrons and this week we have two new ones. "Sunspur" by Michael Carey is a nostalgic story of childhood in Louisiana and the author lives in nearby Delhi. "Mrs. Candy Strikes It Rich" is another very funny novel by Robert Tallant. This is the third of his stories about Mrs. Candy of the French quarter. Robert Tallant has a wonderful sense of humor and this book is most entertaining.

Historical novels are always popular and there are two new ones this week. "Vale of Tyranny" by Suzanne Butler has its setting in England and France of the last century. "Don't Tread On Me" by Capt. Walter Karig, U. S. N. is a novel based on the exploits of the founder of the American navy, John Paul Jones. It is an exciting novel and will appeal especially to those who love the sea. Those who love the works of Anthony Trollope (and there are many in his following) will rejoice that one of his novels has just come to light after many years. It is called "The Two Heroines of Plumpton" and is the last story of Barseshire.

Readers of western stories will be glad to know that there are three titles among this week's additions. "Arrow in the Moon" by John and Margaret Harris is a story of early days in Wyoming. "Prairie Guns" by a master of the western story, Ernest Haycox is a collection of short stories about the violent days of the pioneer west. "Trumpets of Company K" by William Chamberlain is an exciting story of the exploits of the western cavalry. For the mystery readers there is one new title. "The Case of the Runaway Corpse" by Erle Stanley Gardner.

Every book mentioned today will make pleasant summer reading. If the book you request is out, the library has many others of the same type. Make use of the resources of your public library as soon as possible.

Girl Scout News

Five Brownie troops recently held fly-up ceremonies, the ceremony in which each girl makes the Girl Scout Promise and thus graduates from the Brownie program.

Troop 29, Mrs. M. L. Quillen, leader, held its ceremony early on a Sunday afternoon in the dining hall at Pine Wood. The girls and their families had come out after church, bringing picnic lunches. The girls began with a color ceremony with Linda Graham as flag bearer. Then followed the traditional candle-lighting ceremony, after which the following girls made the promise and received their Girl Scout pins from their leader: Christine Freeman, Linda Graham, Edwina Hopkins, Kathy Kelly, Carol Ann Petty, Anne Quillen, and Carolyn Thompson.

The auditorium at Sherrouse School was the setting for the joint ceremony of Troops 5 and 26, with a large number of parents and friends present. Mrs. Charles Cas-

MISS GEORGIE ANN VOLLMAN'S betrothal to Alton Brown, son of Mr. and Mrs. W. A. Brown of Hodge, is announced today by her mother Mrs. Camille Vollman. The wedding will be solemnized June 25th.

on of Troop 26, Mrs. J. H. Belote completed membership requirements and Mrs. R. N. Ballenger of Troop 5 presented the following girls who Judy Clark, Sheila Culp, Judy Fairchild, Mary Ellen Francis, Susan Hubka, Joye Humble, Joyce Mullins, Pamela Sims, Rosemary Upshaw, Linda Welch, Sharon Griffith, Linda Ballenger, Eva Beaudoin, Theresa Ann Belote, Patricia Dennis, Susan Ferguson, Betty Jean Hakim, Maretha Holdenreich, Diane McIntosh, and Jennie Clare Carroll.

Troop 55, Mrs. Dick Dean, leader, held its investiture in the garden of the Jack Masur home in the late afternoon. After the flag ceremony and candlelighting, the leader presented the girls to Miss Annis Kile, executive director of the local Girl Scout council, who presented their pins after hearing them make the Girl Scout promise.

The following made the step from Brownie to Intermediate: Dottie Amman, Laulise Amman, Jodie Biedenbarn, Connie Cudd, Ginger Dean, Rilla Eckholm, Gretchen Masur, Margaret Moore, and Mignon Scogins. The girls had on display the books of flowers they had learned this spring.

Troop 33 had outdoor investiture in the yard of the Ted Allen's, with a flag ceremony and candles lighted to represent Promise and Laws. Mrs. H. K. Touchstone, Jr. and Mrs. Allen Barham, leaders, presented the following with their pins: Laura Allen, Sally Barham, Linda Crow, Jeanne Foster, Nancy Gimler, Min-ta Goynne, Anne Hemphill, Nancy Johnson, Mary Lee Miltstead, Lea Skains, Helen Touchstone and Tommie Jean Dixon.

Congratulations to all the fly-ups! Several fourth-grade troops, we hear, are going to wait until fall for their investitures.

Old-fashioned ice trays can be made stick-proof by keeping wax paper on the bottoms.

You'll be able to make an effective flower arrangement if you keep the following facts in mind: Containers and flowers should be considered as a unit. Round flowers, such as roses, tulips, daisies, and spear-shaped flowers, such as gladioli, snapdragons and delphinium, should be combined. Place light-colored flowers at top of arrangement, dark at bottom.

HANDSOME CHURCH IN DELHI — Shown above is the new Presbyterian edifice to be dedicated there today.

Delhi Presbyterians In Church Dedication

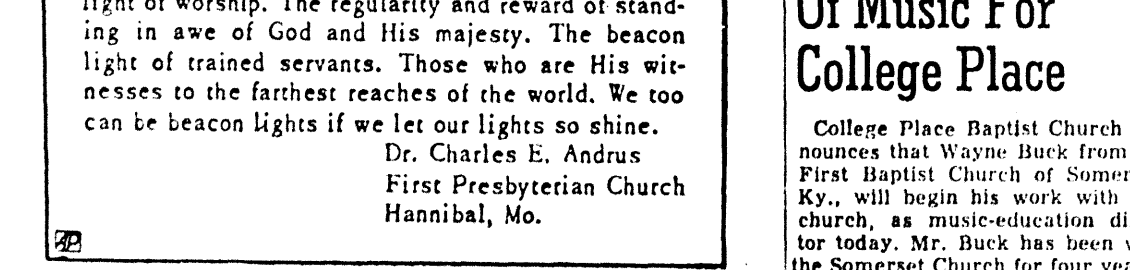

A new Presbyterian Church building was completed in Delhi last week for a service of consecration scheduled for today at 11 a.m. A cornerstone laying ceremony will be held at 3:30 p.m. The public is invited to the service. The first attend Dr. R. A. Forrest, a prominent minister in the new sanctuary.

Bible Words for Today

MATTHEW 5:16 — "Let your light so shine before men, that they may see your good works and give glory to your Father who is in heaven." (RSV)

Traveling across the vast expanse of our nation one can see on mountain top and prairie plain the beacon lights whose shining rays point the safe course to our airplanes as they carry their precious cargoes across the land. Beacon lights! We need beacon lights as we make our way in life. What are those beacon lights of life shining crystal clear in the storm of life pointing us on our way. They are the beacon light of study. The necessity of being an informed Christian. The beacon light of prayer. The fulfilling of the soul's sincere desire. The beacon light of worship. The regularity and reward of standing in awe of God and His majesty. The beacon light of trained servants. Those who are His witnesses to the farthest reaches of the world. We too can be beacon lights if we let our lights so shine.

Dr. Charles E. Andrus
First Presbyterian Church
Hannibal, Mo.

Today's YOUR GUIDING STAR Messages:

- O. Rom. 12:17. Repay no one evil for evil, but take thought for what is noble in the sight of all. You shall fear evil no more. We know that in everything God works for good with those who love him. I have counsel and sound wisdom, I have insight, I have strength. Would you have no fear of him who is in authority? Then do what is good, and you will receive his approval.

Mr. Wayne Buck New Director Of Music For College Place

College Place Baptist Church announces that Wayne Buck from the First Baptist Church of Somerset, Ky., will begin his work with this church, as music-education director today. Mr. Buck has been with the Somerset Church for four years, previous to that he held similar positions with the Euclid Avenue Baptist Church of Lexington, Va., and the Porter Memorial Baptist Church of Lexington, Ky. He is a graduate of Georgetown College in Kentucky and has worked toward his master's at the University of Kentucky.

He will be in charge of music and educational work of the College Place Baptist Church. He is married and he and Mrs. Buck will reside at 300 Cole Avenue.

There will be a reception for the Bucks on Sunday afternoon (today) from 3:00 p.m. to 4:30 p.m. at the church.

All friends and those interested are invited to come by the church during these hours.

Elder Shain In Farewell Sermon To Flock Here

"Behold I Come Quickly," was the theme of the farewell sermon given Sabbath morning by Elder M. C. Shain, pastor of the Monroe Seventh-day Adventist Church. He has accepted an invitation to Hot Springs, Ark., to serve as superintendent of that district.

The district includes three churches in Hot Springs, Malvern and Bonnerdale and three day schools.

Mr. Shain and his wife and son, Ben, came to this district from El Dorado, Ark., five years ago. Under his leadership two new churches were added to the Monroe district with a 50 per cent increase in membership.

6:00 p.m. snack time for young people.
8:00 p.m. young people's program.
9:00 a.m. morning worship, Idlewild church.

The topic for the morning worship service is "Diamonds in The Rough."

Each Wednesday night at 6:30 p.m. a potluck dinner is served in fellowship hall to the families of the church. This is followed by a period of fun, fellowship and faith. The minister will continue the study of the Book of Genesis. Please bring your Standard Revised Version Bible.

On Thursday, June 24th, the young adult group will have their monthly potluck dinner in fellowship hall. A discussion, led by the minister, will follow. The topic for the discussion this week is "Stereotyping."

The college and senior high groups meet together each Sunday night. This meeting is under the direction of the minister. A nursery for small children is provided in the educational building during all worship services.

Parking facilities are available for those attending Sunday services at the First Presbyterian Church.

Water Plants Well During Dry Spell

Dad, this is your day. You're in the limelight, the center of attention. You may be the forgotten man at a wedding, an unnoticed accessory when the stork arrives, but today you're lord and master. You may have to exchange the presents but you'll appreciate the attention. Yes, dad, this is truly your day.

Around the Garden

The drowth is here again. Seems we go through this every summer. Again let me urge you to soak your plants which takes six or eight hours. Then — you'll not need to water again for ten days or two weeks. So many people complained this year about azaleas only blooming on the bottom limbs. We believe the cause of that was watering too often last year and causing lots of new growth to put out in July and August. That new growth did not have time to set buds, so therefore had no blooms this spring.

There seems to be lots of rhizome rot in bearded lilies. The best treatment I know is to watch closely for any signs, dig the bulb immediately, wash clean, put in the sun for several days then sprinkle with sulphur.

Did you ever notice your roses sending up shoots from the under stalk on which they were grafted? You can usually tell these shoots because they often have seven leaflets instead of five. Cut these shoots off close to the bark where they leave the main roots, or they will sap the strength from your plants.

In early spring when the ground is mellow from winter rains, grass will grow most any place on the lawn. Now—when heat and drowth strike, bare places begin to show up. These are harsh to the eye.

Most of these places are under trees where tree and grass roots are fighting for nourishment, and the soil is very hard. Ground covers will grow among roots of trees better than grass and they need no mowing. They can transform troublesome bare spots into tailored carpets of green. Some will even grow if planted now. If the place is shaded, if you'll spade the soil and incorporate some compost and keep the plants well watered. Of course, winter or spring is the ideal time.

We have so many ground covers to choose from in north Louisiana. First is periwinkle (vinca minor). Some object to this because of its rank growth. Clipping improves the appearance and keeps it under control. This vine thrives with little rainfall.

The ivy family has much to offer us in ground covers. There's the large leaf variety. It roots easily and covers areas with a dark green carpet. The Hahns ivy has a smaller leaf and roots easier and covers faster. Then there's a ground cover called ground ivy that clings very close to the ground and completely covers in a short time. I'm sure there's another name for this but I just don't know what it is.

Here and There

If you have a window air conditioning unit, the filters should be checked and cleaned at regular intervals.

products will surely be conversation makers. One is the old fashioned box of kitchen matches that will be dolled up with an early American kitchen, a fire place or a ranch scene.

Another new item is scheduled to be in national distribution soon. This is how ties for women. They will be decorated with such attention getters as hearts, telephones and so on.

Our entomologist at the university comes out with a bumerang. He says if the descendants of one pair of house flies were allowed to reproduce normally and live during a spawning and summer period of six months, the number would be enough to cover the entire United States with a 4 1/2 foot covering of flies. Let's make war on flies!

Dates
Carolyn Whitlock, 4-H Club member from West Monroe High School will carry you down the highway to good eating on KNOE-TV Tuesday at 1:30. Be sure to have the young ones see the show along with mom. They'll be charmed. See you next Sunday.

SOUTHERN GARDENER—

By William Lanier Hunt

Climate Agrees With Spuria Iris

After the tall bearded lilies are gone and the rose shows are over, the tall Spuria lilies, a fairly new group, come into flower. You probably are familiar with a tall stiff leaved iris which nobody ever seems to be able to classify in the flower shows. The flowers of this one are white with a yellow blotch and the shape of an English, Dutch or Spanish iris. By this time in the spring, of course, all these bulbous lilies have long since bloomed. The white flower we are discussing does not even grow from a bulb (corm) but from true iris rhizomes like those of the tall bearded group. This is the best known spuria in southern gardens, but there are now several more named kinds. The new named varieties come in shades of very light blue, white and even brown. There are some amazing combinations of these colors, too. Instead of branching out on little side stems from the main stalk like most iris flowers do, the spurias seem to come right out of the stalk. The leaves of these plants are very straight and upright like those of the Japanese lilies.

Because of their upright habit and their height — from two to five or even six feet in rich soil, the spuria lilies look best at the back of your flower beds in clumps. Three rhizomes planted in a sort of triangle about two feet apart will make a handsome clump in a year or two. These lilies like our winter rains and summer dry spells. We are lucky in that they do not mind our summer deluges. The strange and beautiful Oncocyclus lilies and their close of kin the Regello - cycluses have to be covered up with boards or a frame to grow them in the southern states, because they hate the summer wetness and rot when exposed to it. Elmo and other like varieties have been bred for us to take the place of these exotic kinds. However, we need not worry over the difficult kinds when we can grow the spurias because these lilies really do come in orchid colors. Gardeners who see them for the first time usually exclaim "Oh they look like orchids, don't they!"

The spurias have been bred by crossing up several different wild kinds. You can find in some catalogues iris ochroleuca and its variety Sheldoff Giant. Some catalogues will also list another of its children, Alice Eastwood. The old white one that puzzled the judges in flower shows for so long was probably iris ochroleuca, itself. The new named white ones are a little larger and have an even lighter yellow patch on the lower parts of the flowers. There is an old yellow spuria in some gardens, too. This one is iris monnieri, and from this one has sprung the marvellously beautiful and bright variety called Wadi Zem Zem. A wadi is a dry wash or ravine in very dry or desert lands, and so Mr. Milliken, the hybridizer out in California who created this magnificent thing has named it for the spring at Mecca which Mohammedans believe was created by Allah to slake the thirst of Ishmael and Hagar when they were driven into the wilderness by Abraham.

The brown — yes; they are really brown — spurias always attract a lot of attention. They do look like some of the refined brown orchids. In this group, the iris hybridizers have really been at work. You can now find a number of named brown or bronze varieties in the catalogues. Fifth Symphony (Nies) is deep yellow with brown veins. Bronzespur and Michigan State have been out a long time and have showed up in gardens here and there. Golden Agate and Rusty Flame are improvements on these which Mr. Nies has created, and Montecarlo is from Mr. Washington. After they had got this many different varieties in the different basic colors of brown, white and blue, the plant wizards began to cross up the colors. The results will be found to be almost unbelievable. Catalogues are beginning to list varieties that are blue and yellow, brown and yellow, very light blue and all the hues and tints you can wish. The spurias have hardly got started. They are the lilies of the future. They have even begun to develop ruffles on the lower parts of the flowers.

Since it rains a lot in our winters, you will not have to worry about watering spurias. Apparently, September and October are the months when they can best be moved. If you have to transfer them from one part of the garden to the other in the Spring, be sure to do it just before growth starts and then keep them watered during that April drought or they will surely sulk. They seem to resent being taken up at any other times, so leave them alone in the Summer. Florists are beginning to use spurias as cut flowers because of their amazing keeping quality. In the house, they are most beautiful under artificial light at night. Of course, they will burn up if you put them too close to an electric light bulb.

SKIN-TONE STOCKINGS
You now can buy hosiery to complement your natural skin tones. The colors follow a nation-wide survey to determine the leading skin-tones among the six basic skin-tones of American women. Several colors in the six types—Ivory, Pink, Medium, Radiant, Olive and Sepia—are shown for day and evening wear.

Garden Center Notes

Seed Books In Color

During the summer months the local garden clubs are exhibiting at the garden center. We have a great deal of talent right here in our midst as evidenced by the beautiful and distinctive arrangements that are coming in each week.

The Green Thumb Garden Club of Monroe exhibited this week. Mrs. E. B. Knotts of Sicily Island and Mrs. Guy Kincaid of Winnboro judged the show. In arrangements, the first place was awarded to Mrs. R. M. Gorman for a triangular arrangement of red-violet gladiolus in a low rectangular container. Mrs. D. B. Gee was awarded second place for an exotic arrangement of tiger lilies. For a container, Mrs. Gee chose a black Japanese bowl set on a hand-carved teakwood stand. Three tall spikes of canna buds were used for height, lily buds continuing the line and three blooms of the tiger lily used as a focal point. Mrs. T. D. Pickens was awarded third place for a most beautiful analogous arrangement using the colors of yellow, yellow-orange and orange. In an antique footed container Mrs. Pickens created a line-mass composition of aucuba (gold dust) foliage and gladiolus.

In the horticulture class blue ribbons were awarded as follows: Mrs. T. D. Pickens for double day lily Flora Pleno, Mrs. D. F. Dennis for Bella of Ireland (Moluccella laevis) and Mrs. R. M. Gorman for Gladiolus variety Beacon. Another beautiful arrangement on display was arranged in a brown Frankoma container. Iris foliage was used for height, the yellow green of variegated honeysuckle as background material, and the pale lemon buds and blooms of the Hyacinth day lily used as a focal point.

Have you ordered your new flower and seed catalogues yet? Dean Collins, noted garden writer, says "Catalogues are full of a number of things, aimed to make gardeners as happy as kings." Experienced gardeners know that working without seed and nursery catalogues is like working in the dark. Aware that catalogues, chock full of beauty and facts, light up the way, they save old editions, send for new ones as soon as they are announced and refer to them all constantly. I have saved all mine for the past seven years. Getting the new catalogues is like keeping up with the fashions. There are always new introductions and sometimes an old favorite has been hybridized and brought back more beautiful than ever.

Fashions in flowers change as do our clothes, cars and homes. Some of the 1954 catalogue features are, 1. arrangement pointers, 2. new varieties in full color these color plates are produced at great cost by American firms), 3. planting guides, seed starting, planting, pruning, insect control, etc. 4. landscape ideas, 5. new fruits and vegetables. Some nursery men charge a small fee for their catalogues. You may be sure that any catalogue you pay for is worth several times the price. Indeed they really comprise a short and easy course in horticulture.

We urge you to order, read and study your new catalogues, then consult your local nursery man and seed store. They are constantly bringing new varieties to please an ever demanding public. If they don't have or cannot get your selections, then order from your catalogues.

Younger Boys' Camp Of Y.M.C.A. Opens On Monday

The Twin Cities Y. M. C. A. day camp for younger boys, ages 6 to 12, opens Monday at 9 a. m. in Forsythe Park.

A new shelter for the day camp has just been completed and will serve as camp headquarters as well as offering shelter for all campers in case of rain.

The first period June 21-July 2 is completely filled with campers while a few spaces are still available for the second period July 5-July 16.

Day camping affords an opportunity to grow bodily, spiritually and mentally while enjoying wholesome activities in friendship groups under competent leadership, sponsors.

sors said. Campers will be picked up by bus at the various elementary schools in Monroe - West Monroe and transported to Forsythe Park. Boys in the day camp program will enjoy such activities as archery, swimming, boating, fishing, crafts, group games, athletics, educational trips, nature lore, story telling, devotionals, camp songs, singing, riflery and fellowship with other boys.

All Y. M. C. A. day camp staff members have successfully completed their leadership training course which was held last week under the supervision of Dr. Roy Robertson, Roger Manning and Charles A. Wood, Jr., general secretary.

Week-End Parties Open D. K. P. Rush Season

As an opening of the "rush season", Delta Kappa Pi entertained rushers, members, and dates with a series of parties over the week end.

On Saturday, a burger party was given at the home of Miss Gerry Lester. Mr. and Mrs. A. J. Lester assisted. Dancing was enjoyed by the group. The girls in their colorful cotton frocks added color to the outdoor setting.

Members and dates were: Pat Davis and Edger Aston, Barbara Tarrance and Morris Parker, Lydia Varino and Lawrence Holcomb, Ann Ray and Biggie Moore, Margaret Lowry and Dickie Culpepper, Shirley Davis and J. D. Cappa, Truley Ann Chapman and Lon Bass, Mary Ann Ferguson and Lynn Vaughn, Jennie Lou Ervin and Richard Watson, Paula Cook and Randolph Caga, Rita Barnes and Billy Moore, Mollie Ann Cobb and Chubby Johnston, Pat Weems and Gary Huckabay, Joanne Williams and Richard Kincaide, Marilou Anderson and Tommy Sanders, Martha Harper, Linda Morgan, Kay Cantrell, Glenda Williams, Barbara Eady, Gerry Lester, and mother sponsor, Mrs. Nonette Ray. Rushers and dates were: Barbara Butler and Ronnie Alexander, Gloria Thompson and Herschel Adcock, Alice Faye Bonnett and Paul Royce, Sherrill Ruby and Ronnie Hudson, Linda Gay Dean and James Chapman, Vera Gould and Marlin Moore, Camille Camp and James Farmer, Mary Helen Kilpatrick and Mike Stone, Louise Arant, Pat Sheppard, Marjo Walker, Dianne Carter, Carolyn Clark, Carolyn Knight, Theda Rose Pettigrew, Linda Steele, Pat Anne Davis, Judy Norris, Brenda Bayles, and Sara Stovall.

On Sunday, the group motored to Vollman Lake for a beach party. Swimming was enjoyed. Mr. and Mrs. Milton Williams and Mrs. Nonette Ray were chaperones.

Members and dates were: Lydia Varino and Lawrence Holcomb, Barbara Bradley and Roland Coates, Pat Davis and Tommy Tradwick, Truley Ann Chapman and Lon Bass, Rita Barnes and Billy Moore, Pat Weems and Gary Huckabay, Jennie Lou Ervin and Richard Watson, Dixie Brown and Chug Stout, Barbara Tarrance and Morris Parker, Ann Ray and Biggie Moore, Barbara Eady and Doug Brewer, Margaret Lowry and George Smith, Marilou Anderson and Tommy Sanders, Joanne Williams and Richard Kincaide, Glenda Williams, Gerry Lester, and Shirley Davis.

Rushers and dates were: Sara Stovall and Donald Hudson, Pat Ann Davis and Mike Stone, Camille Camp and James Farmer, Barbara Lowry and Billy Smith, Annette Vought and Marvin Kitchen, Judy Norris, Linda Steele, Mary Helen Kilpatrick, Theda Rose Pettigrew, Linda Gay Dean, Dianne Carter, Carolyn Knight, Carolyn Clark, Pat Sheppard, Louise Arant, and Marjo Walker.

On Monday, a coke hour in the home of Miss Barbara Tarrance climaxed the week end. The centerpiece was made up of white mums centered around frosted coles to inact a cool atmosphere. The colors of the sorority, green and white, were carried out in decorative table arrangement. A regular meeting followed.

Members were: Glenda Williams, Anita Dell Allen, Ann Ray, Gloria Peters, and company.

Garden Club In Columbia Meets At Center

The Caldwell Parish Garden Club met Thursday for their regular meeting at the Caldwell Parish Community Center.

The meeting opened with prayer by Dr. Harold Hawkins. Mrs. W. R. Gates of Monroe was the guest speaker and gave an interesting talk on iris.

Present at the meeting were: Mrs. J. W. Brockner and Miss Lola Caldwell, hostesses, Mrs. Gates of Monroe, Mrs. Mattie Calton, Mrs. R. L. McDaniel, Mrs. S. G. Jarrell, Mrs. C. P. Thompson, Mrs. J. M. Hawkins, Mrs. R. J. Powell, Mrs. E. W. Martin, Dr. Hawkins and Mrs. Laura Kidd.

POISON IVY

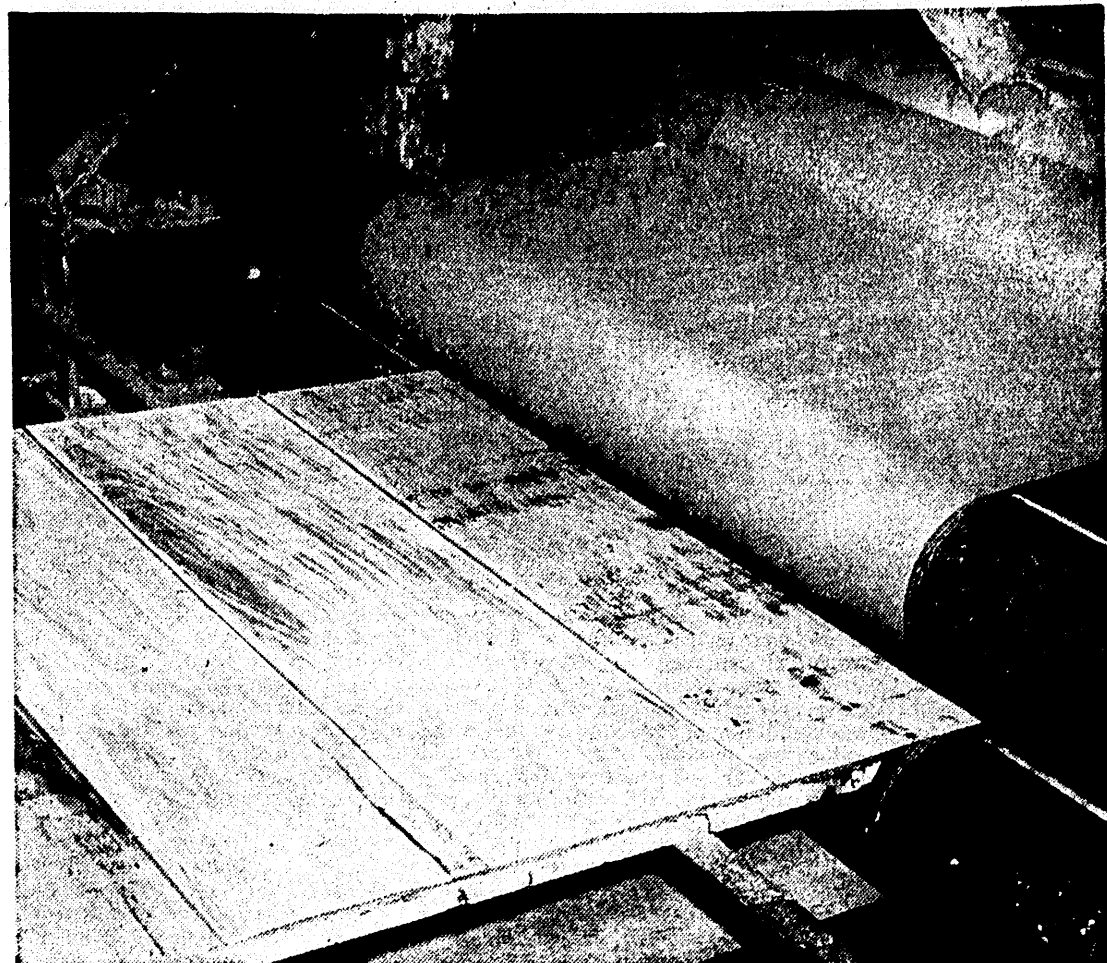

Summertime is also poison ivy time for campers, picnickers and families working on home grounds. Since these poisonous plants are found in practically all parts of the country, it's a good safety measure to know them on sight.

One thing to watch is the leaves—only one three-parted leaf leads off from each joint on the stem. They never appear in pairs along the stem. Plants on home grounds should be eradicated, either by chemical or mechanical means.

Madison Parish Brings Peace, Prosperity Out Of Historical Turmoil

By MRS. ERLE REED

Madison Parish, named for President Madison, and located in the fertile section of the northeast Louisiana delta, has for its eastern indeterminate boundary the ever-changing Mississippi River and for its western boundary, Bayou Macon. On the north is East Carroll Parish and on the south, Texas.

Its dimensions are roughly 25 miles from north to south and 30 miles from east to west, embracing an acreage of 423,680 of which 313,207 is in forests. The history of this section dates back to 1682 when the intrepid explorer, La Salle, made his journey to the mouth of the Mississippi. It is believed that he may have visited Indians where the village of Delta Point now stands. Historians record that Bienville, in 1700 en route to the Caddo Indians on Red River, traversed the region between the Mississippi and Ouachita Rivers.

Nearly 100 years elapsed before there is a record of any white settlers in this part of Louisiana. It was in 1786 that the Spanish government established a post at Ft. Miro, near the present city of Monroe and the area of Madison Parish as well as adjoining parishes came under the jurisdiction of the County of Ouachita as it was called.

One factor which has influenced the history of Louisiana from the beginning is the River, for many years the only means of transportation and trade between the pioneers of Tennessee, Kentucky and other central states and the market in New Orleans. Free navigation of the river was a problem affecting Spanish, French and United States authorities during the early days.

Fort Nogales

In 1791 Fort Nogales was built by the Spanish at what is now Vicksburg and was given to the United States by a treaty in 1795. The Spanish continued to occupy the fort and refused to permit free navigation of the river. As a consequence the settlers of Tennessee and Kentucky protested to the United States government that if the terms of the treaty were not enforced they would take matters into their own hands and the Spanish realized they must live up to the treaty.

It was at this time that the Spanish authorities attempted to place a population buffer line on the west bank of the river and since the low lands in this vicinity seemed undesirable for settlers, the line was located on the higher lands near the Ouachita. The early settlers brought by Baron De Bastrop gradually extended their hunting operations westward along Texas River and Bayou Macon but few of them established homes on the banks of the streams.

No record has been found of Indian villages in this region, but the existence of huge mounds found containing Indian relics and human bones gives evidence that some Indians established this section of the country possibly before America was discovered.

1803 Settlement

About 1803 settlements were made on the west bank of the Mississippi near Delta and land was taken up by Robert Coderan, John Barney and later by James Douglas, Elijah Betts and Elijah Clark. The forests afforded abundant food and these pioneers sometimes engaged in floating timber by raft or flatboat to Natchez or New Orleans in exchange for supplies. Louisiana was admitted to the

'Robber Joe'

There were several colorful characters connected with the early history. It is said that Bayou Macon derives its name from the letter of a robber band named Macon who suddenly appear out of the wilderness and prey upon the travelers journeying west across the wooded region. According to tradition another bandit of the period a "tall long-haired swarthy villain known as robber Joe" with his band operated in the region. Joe's Bayou owes its name to this bandit and his exploits.

Richmond, on the banks of Roundaway Bayou, two miles south of the present town of Tallulah, was once the flourishing parish seat and one of the most commercial centers between Vicksburg and Monroe. Other prosperous towns of the era were Millikins Bend and New Carthage.

It was in the fifties that the first railroad was built in north Louisiana, the old Vicksburg, Shreveport and Pacific, which traversed Madison Parish from east to west. Naturally it was expected that the new railroad would run through the parish seat.

A romantic story connected with the road which had significant and permanent effect was as follows: Tradition has it that the lines for the road had been surveyed over a route most favorable for construction and through Richmond. The chief engineer, an impressionable bachelor, was suddenly enamored by a wealthy, charming and crafty widow whose large plantation would be missed by the new road. By changing the route a few miles to the north, the value of her property would be greatly enhanced even though Richmond would be abandoned. He then remembered his sweetheart of former days and when the railroad was finished and a new station established it was named for his first love, "Tallulah," which in time became the thriving seat of the parish.

In the 1840s at Millikins Bend, a river port and the home of an aristocratic society, was located the first high school in the parish called, "A Male and Female Academy." It was operated by a Mr. and Mrs. Puller for "Useful and Ornamental Education." Mrs. Puller was reported to be a "schooler and a ripe and good one."

1840 To 1861

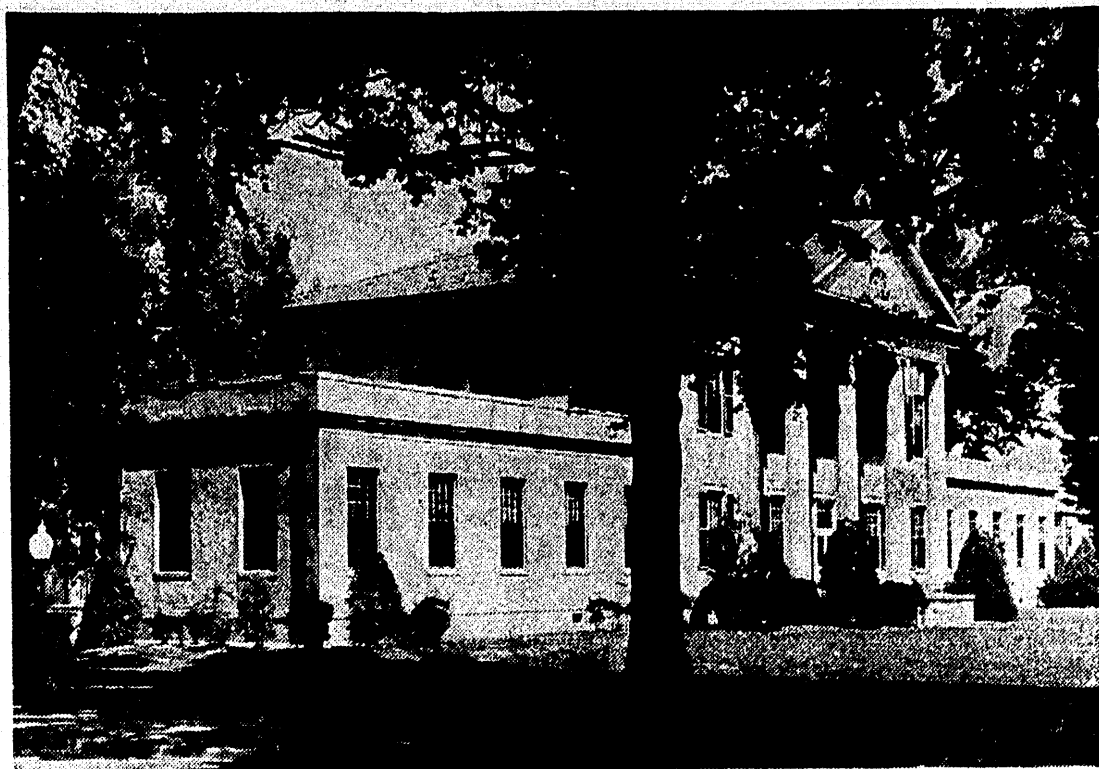

The period from 1840 and 1861 was the zenith of prosperity in Madison Parish when beautiful homes were built and great plantations with their slaves, livestock, cotton gins and improvements came into being. Then came the War between the States with its attending destruction followed by the demoralization Reconstruction period.

The only battle fought on Madison soil was a skirmish near Millikins Bend between Confederate forces composed of a detachment of Morrison's Cavalry and a body of Federal troops. Grant and Sherman landed their armies at Millikins Bend and eventually overran the entire parish, capturing and burning the active little town of Richmond. Not a building of any kind was left standing.

Before the advance of Grant's army some patriotic officials and citizens, removed from the courthouse, the public records and hid them temporarily in the back country to the west, thus preserving evidence of land titles, law suits, marriages and other public documents and books. Later these were stored in a dwelling on the east bank of the bayou in Tallulah where they remained until the parish seat was removed to Delta and later by an unconventional, strategic move to Tallulah. This building and colonial residence are the only buildings in the parish which existed prior to the Civil War.

Confederate Guns

Because Grant and Sherman were unable to transport their forces by river past Vicksburg, due to the Confederate guns on the Mississippi cliffs, they attempted other means. Sherman undertook to divert the waters of the Mississippi at a point called Duckport by cutting a canal running westward into Walnut Bayou. This proved unsuccessful because the war boats, after being floated into the river were left stranded as the river began to fall.

HEARTBEAT OF THE PARISH — Surrounded by old shade trees in the heart of Tallulah is the Madison Parish court house.

Another and greater undertaking of this character was Grant's Canal at near the present town of Delta. Two powerful dredges and the work of excavation of 4,000 men attracted nation wide attention. Edges formed at both ends of the canal and instead of a current from the river creating a deeper channel the river deposited more earth. For many years relics of the famous Grant's Canal were still seen there.

As a well known historical fact Grant eventually succeeded in moving his fleet past the forts of Vicksburg by night and the last stronghold of the Confederacy fell. Mrs. Kate Stone Holmes, one of the revered pioneers, who lived through the Civil War years in Madison Parish, kept a diary of her experiences and fortunately for posterity, this diary has been preserved by her daughter, Miss Amy Holmes. It has recently been prepared for publication by a university professor, but as yet has not been released.

Dark Pages

From the close of the war in 1865 to the withdrawal of Federal troops in 1877 Madison suffered the darkest pages in its history. Aside from the destruction, privation and financial loss caused by the war, the aftermath was worse due to political strife when the government was in the hands of Reconstructionists and the illiterate Negroes unequal to the responsibilities freedom had thrust upon them.

In 1865 a Madison Parish man became known throughout the nation because of an incident which in all probability was a contributing factor in some of the tragic happenings of Reconstruction. Dr. Henry Wirz, a competent physician of Millikins Bend, who enlisted in the Confederate army from that town, was later in charge of a prison for captured Union soldiers located at Andersonville, Ga. To quote from a booklet prepared by the late W. M. Murphy of Tallulah, "food, clothing and medicines were scarce, and at times it was not possible to furnish these prisoners with the comforts or even the necessities of life. As a result, they became mutinous to such an extent that some were fired on by guards and killed."

"After the Union forces took Andersonville and its garrison, it was charged in the north that the prisoners had been starved, cruelly treated and shot down without cause. A wave of indignation swept across the nation and a hue and cry went up for vengeance and for punishment off all officials and others persons supposed to be responsible for conditions at the prison where, out of 50,000 Union soldiers, about 13,000 had died."

A well known encyclopedia gives the following, under the heading, Andersonville, Ga.

"After the war, the superintendent of the prison, Henry Wirz, was tried by court martial, and on the 10th of November, 1865, was hanged, and the revelations of the sufferings of the prisoners was one of the factors that shaped public opinion regarding the south in the northern states after the close of the Civil War."

By a strange coincidence it was Major George C. Waddill of Madison Parish, another Confederate, who had detailed Dr. Wirz to duty at the Andersonville prison.

Along with the ravages of war Madison Parish has been the victim of disaster caused by the

1912 Flood

The first great inundation after the levees were constructed was in 1882. Again in 1912 the Alsatia levee, three miles north of the parish line gave way flooding all lowlands to the south from a depth of from one to fifteen feet. During this flood normal life was interrupted and schools were closed. It so happened that members of the high school senior class in Tallulah attended school for a few weeks in boats and completed work for graduation under the direction of two of the instructors. At the commencement exercises parents and friends came in boats to witness the important event.

The last record breaking overflow was in 1927 when a levee at the Cabin Teale levee, a short distance from Millikins Bend, sent flood waters that quickly united River. Until a system of levees was established spring waters of the Mississippi often swept over the alluvial land. As early as 1806

Governor Claiborne recognized and deplored the losses caused by overflows in North Louisiana. With those caused by breaks in the Arkansas levee system. This deluge covered a large area and remained longer than any previous inundation on record. A graphic and interesting account of the 1927 flood, written by Mrs. Helen Spann Murphy of Tallulah a chronicler of local history, appeared in the August issue of the Atlantic monthly for that year.

Due to flood control measures of the United States government and the science of engineering, the great river has now apparently been conquered and controlled by levees, cut-offs and spillways.

Yellow Fever

Not only floods, but pestilence has taken its toll of Madison Parish but her citizens have triumphed over both. The scourge of yellow fever reached epidemic proportions in the years 1865, 1874 and 1878. The last epidemic in 1865 was of such a virulent type that caused 18 deaths out of a total of 70 cases among the whites and five deaths out of 100 cases among the Negroes. Normal train service through the town was suspended and when conditions were at their worst health authorities ordered evacuation of citizens not ill with the disease. Relief trains stopped several miles out of town for the passengers who did not return until danger of infection was over.

The names of two local physicians, Dr. G. W. Gaines and Dr. G. H. Ogborne, who rendered valuable and heroic service during these months will long be remembered. Medical science has long since eradicated the menace of this dread disease from the entire United States.

According to a recent survey by Madison Parish Development Board in cooperation with the Louisiana Department of Public Works the soil of the parish is divided as follows: 72,409 acres in crop land, 21,406 acres in pasture, 323,619 acres in woodland and 6,246 acres mixed land such as roads, towns, school levees etc. Approximately 10,638 acres are in lake beds and streams and 30,946 inside the Mississippi River levee.

Madison has seven months growing season with an average rainfall of 25 inches during that time and 53 inches for the entire year. During recent years there has been an increase in agricultural, industrial and business growth. The population declined between 1940 and 1950 due to mechanized farming and the migration of Negro labor to industrial centers. The proportion of the population at this time is two Negroes to one white person.

Cotton Acreage

Cotton continues to be the main crop from the standpoint of income and acreage. During the last five years the acreage has been 25,400 with the average yield of 20,900 bales. Soy beans have been grown more extensively in the past ten years and it is estimated the 1952 crop yielded 100,000 bushels worth $275,000. Corn is the chief grain and has an estimated acreage of 12,000 and oats is also grown as a feed crop for stock.

Livestock

The parish is fast becoming a leader in livestock production and as a consequence thousands of acres that were formerly in cultivation are now pastures of dallis, bermuda, white clover and fescue grasses. Beef cattle are represented by Herefords and Brahams while Jerseys predominate in the dairy cattle with a few Holsteins and Guernseys. The Duroc Jersey is the most popular breed of swine.

One of the major shifts in farm operations since 1940 is from mule power and farm labor to farm mechanization.

Several federal and state agricultural agencies participate in the farm program of the parish. The agriculture extension service is staffed by Max McDonald as parish agent with A. M. Itley as his assistant. Mrs. Ethel M. Fuller is the home demonstration agent and is assisted by Nellie Graham in charge of the work with Negroes and Mrs. Elizabeth Thompson, office secretary. The Home Demonstration Council is composed of representatives of the nine home demonstration clubs. There are six active 4-H clubs which are affiliated with four schools and carry on a constructive program of work in all sections of the parish. The soil conservation service cooperates with farmers in their problems; Production Marketing Administration administers acreage activities are held at the community playground, Benjamin Park. For adults the golf course adjoining the Community Club attracts many and weekly luncheons of the Ladies Auxiliary to the Golf Club provide many social gatherings.

Game Preserves

Madison Parish offers abundant recreation for hunters of deer, squirrel, bear and game birds in season and fishing is also a popular pastime in the many lakes and streams of the parish.

The Singer Game Preserve, an 11,102 acre wild life refuge in the southern section of the parish is maintained by the state. The protection provided game within this shelter and enforcement of game laws is the reason for the plentiful supply of game here. It is in the Singer Preserve that the panther, found nowhere else in the state, came at will and where in 1932 Mason Spencer discovered the Ivory-billed Woodpecker long believed to be extinct. This discovery attracted the attention of noted ornithologists who came to see the living birds.

Industry

The largest industrial plant of Madison is the Chicago Mill and Lumber Company's hardwood mill which has hundreds on its payroll. Its main products are wood veneer which is shipped in wire bound containers all over the United States and Cravener, used for shipping containers and also shipped all over the country. Cravener was originated in the laboratory of the plant here under the supervision of R. N. Ware, president of the company, M. B. Christian, chemist and T. A. Cannon. The machine for manufacturing this product is 274 feet long and produces millions of surface feet of the material. The only other machine of its kind is in a plant at Bainbridge, Ga., and another is being built on the Pacific Coast. Both are under the supervision of the Tallulah organization.

Another enterprise here is the manufacture of dowels for baseball bats from pecan wood. From 350,000 and 550,000 of these are shipped to a factory in Louisville, Ky., per year where they are shaped, finished and put on the market under the name of the Louisville Slugger. It is necessary that the wood for these bats be of perfect, straight grain and free from blemish. Because of climatic here it has been found impractical to keep the dowels here for seasoning. Mark H. Brown is superintendent of the plant which employs 11 men.

There are six cotton gins in the parish, one oil mill, one compress and two grain elevators.

Commercial transportation is afforded the public by the Illinois Central Railroad which traverses the parish from east to west and a branch of the Missouri Pacific from north to south. In addition there are eleven motor busses going west and twelve going east and two each north and south daily. Daily freight schedules are also available.

The Madison Parish Health Unit, having a personnel of one physician, one full time and one part time nurse, a sanitarian, clerk and nurse's aid offers immunizations for disease control, regular sanitary inspection of food handling establishments and in cooperation with public officials assists in the annual campaign for prevention of rabies.

There are six accredited physicians with well equipped offices in Tallulah but no specialists. No hospital facilities are available at present but in a property tax election on June first of this year the citizens voted for a bond issue for the construction of a hospital.

The Madison Journal, a weekly newspaper owned and operated by W. L. Rountree serves as publishing agent for the Police Jury, School Board and Village of Tallulah and the Tallulah State Bank and Trust Co., with W. P. Sevier as executive vice president and cashier, is the depository for public funds.

Old Man River

The story of Madison Parish would be incomplete without reference to the constant changes wrought by the vagaries of Old Man River. The aforementioned cultured little town of Millikins Bend is no more, the site having been eaten away by the shifting current of the river. Nothing remains to indicate there was ever a community of homes or business houses in the vicinity.

Delta, the well planned town opposite Vicksburg, in the long ago the parish seat with its wide streets and boulevards, is less than half the original size, the soil having been washed away.

The protecting levees are in turn moved back or advanced as the mighty Father of Waters changes its course. What Sherman and Grant once were unable to do with their vast armies and equipment, the river did of its own might, for a little over a decade later it cut through the narrow point of land, shifting its channel several miles to the west leaving a section of Madison Parish soil across the stream on the east side.

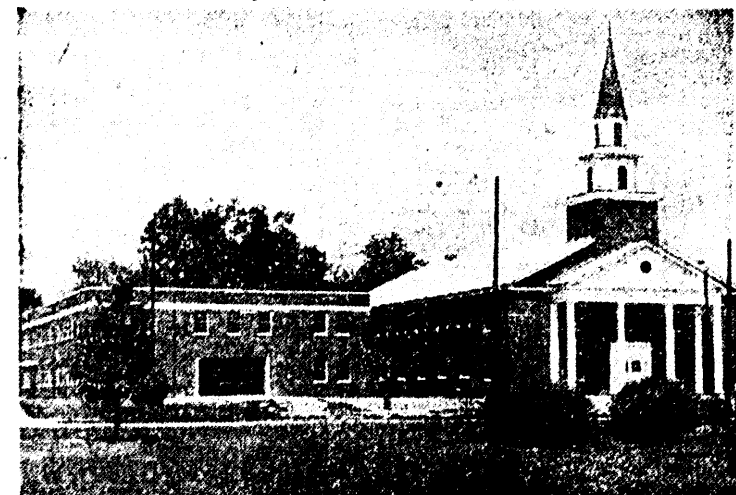

This portion, known as De Soto Island, while within the confines of the state of Mississippi is still within the jurisdiction of Madison Parish. On a similar area to the north, Australia Island, there is a rich plantation owned by two individuals and managed by a Mr. Pullen, who resides there with his family. On days when state or parish elections are held he has to make a 50 mile trip to Tallulah to cast his ballot. There is a Negro school on the plantation, supervised by the Madison Parish School Board. Marshall Point, opposite the Cabin Teale levee, is also on the east side of the river, due to a man made cut-off.

The southeastern section of the parish, known as Diamond Town and Sargent Point, and involving approximately 25,000 or 30,000 acres is subject to a suit with the state of Mississippi over the boundary. The litigation in federal court will be decided in July.

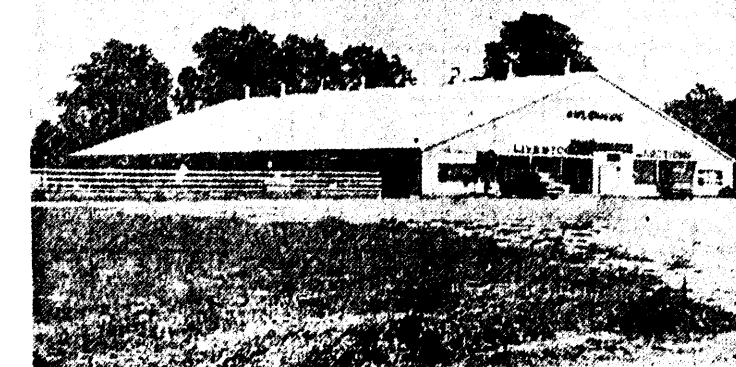

The lands referred to above, 35,819 acres, all outside the levee, are privately owned and are on the assessment rolls of Madison Parish.

TALLULAH METHODIST CHURCH — Standing in the heart of the community the Tallulah Methodist Church is a house of worship for a large congregation.

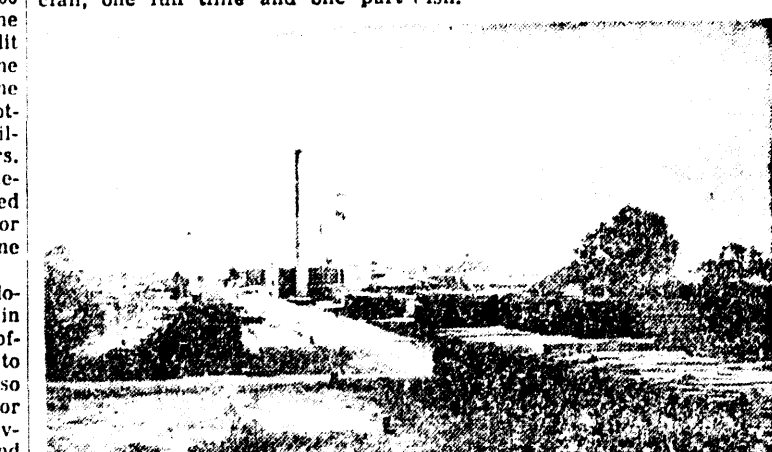

RELIGIOUS STRUCTURES — The First Baptist Church at Tallulah is housed in one of the most beautiful buildings to be found anywhere in northeast Louisiana.

INFLUENCE OF LIVESTOCK — The spacious livestock auction barn, shown above, is clearly a mark of the progressive livestock industry in Madison Parish.

DAIRY INDUSTRY — Max McDonald, of Tallulah, holds the head of a proud dairy cow. The dairy industry in Madison parish is reported to be one of the growing industries of the parish.

INDUSTRY IN MADISON — The Chicago Mill and Lumber Company, located at Tallulah, is the largest industry in the parish and furnishes employment for many people.

TALLULAH POST OFFICE — The United States post office in Tallulah is housed in a building typical of the South, depicting the influence of colonial architecture.

PRODUCTIVE CORN — Bobby Nemann, winner of the 1951 corn contest, is shown above among stalks with large ears of corn.

Your Problems

By ANN LANDERS

Dear Mrs. Landers: I have devoted my life to my children, scrubbing floors and standing on my feet for hours to give them food and a few pleasures. As payment, my daughter has come home with a child—unwed. My son, who is almost 19 calls me vile names, nags at me for money and has refused to work since he quit school last year.

My daughter pays me for taking care of her baby but refuses to help in the house or care for the baby after working hours and weekends. She is dating again and leaves the child to me. My husband tells me to leave them alone, but he doesn't have to take their abuse. I am getting to be a sick woman and can no longer work as I used to. What can I do?—Nervous Mother

Same old story—mother making a doormat of herself. Maybe if you had not done so much for the children and allowed them to respect and do for you all through the years, they would not dare to treat you as they are doing. At least, they might show more consideration for you now. That, however, is water over the dam.

But, you don't have to keep the same pattern going until you drop dead, you know. Tell the boy to get a job or he doesn't eat, and if he doesn't like it to get out or go back to finish school.

Tell your daughter the baby needs a mother's love, care and attention and to take full charge of the baby nights and weekends or to adopt it out to some couple who will give it a balanced home and the attention the innocent thing is being robbed of. If she doesn't like your arrangement, tell her to try and find better elsewhere. You can bet your boots those kids will keep right on walking all over you until you show them they cannot. It is entirely up to you.

Dear Mrs. Landers: Do you think I am a prude or just too nervous to be normal? It bothers me so much to be with a man who chews his nails that I refuse to date him again. I can't even bear to look at his stubs of nails! I am 28 and still single. I suppose you'll say, "No wonder."—T. L.

Nope, you're just normal. Few people like a nail-chewer, because it makes them nervous enough to start nail-chewing themselves. A fellow who is still chewing his nails at his age (28? 30? You did not say) must be all bound up in tensions and anxieties—not a happy guy to be near on a date, let alone married to!

P. S. Only 28? You still have time. I'll keep my fingers crossed.

(Ann Landers will be glad to help you with your problems. Send them to her in care of this newspaper.)

NEW CAPE COLLAR ON SLIM SHEATH IN COUTURE PATTERN BY TALMACK

PATTERN A 611
A TALMACK ORIGINAL
by John Moore

PROMINENT DESIGNER—A newsmaking fashion other women will desire and men admire introduces to this column Talmack's inspired young American designer—John Moore. This is the silhouette both Paris and America love—the cape collar winging wide over the slim, shapely sheath! More than that, this is just about the most flattering line we've seen anywhere. If your figure is average, the sculptured balance of Mr. Moore's technique will give you the proportions of a model. If you really have a Venus figure, be prepared to stop traffic! Not that this is a "special-occasion" dress. You can wear it out in the morning and all day—with the knowledge you look your most elegant. Mr. Moore made his Original in charcoal silk linen. You might make yours in silk shantung, linen, or pique. Remember, only if you make it, have it made, or buy the Talmack Original, can you have this design. It's enough to start anyone sewing!

Having A Baby? Here Are Some Rules To Remember

I was just wondering what I should write to you about this week when I read that the Metropolitan Life Insurance reports that the size of the family in the United States is increasing rapidly. In 10 years the birth rate for third children increased around 77 per cent while that for fourth children increased 50 per cent and that for fifth children 27 per cent.

This is surprising when you think of the high cost of living and high taxes and the generally uncertain times in which we live. I can't work that all out but to you Why Grow Old? author it means that a lot of my readers are having babies, will have them soon, or have had them recently.

So let's think over a few of the tenets for successful pregnancy and happy reconditioning after your baby arrives.

See Your Doctor Early
1. See your physician as soon as you suspect that you may be pregnant. The statistics concerning what happens to those who do and those who don't are impressive. Do not delay.

2. Follow his instructions as to diet and exercise. He will not want you to become obese. This imposes the penalties of discomfort during pregnancy and less safety of delivery. Besides, why pile up those pounds which you will have to lose later on?

Your doctor will no doubt want you to eat a well-balanced diet with emphasis on certain foods. You will of course gain weight because of the weight of your baby and its surrounding nest, but the idea that you just naturally should expect to accumulate rolls of fat because you are pregnant is not right.

Little Discomforts
4. Remember that pregnancy is a most natural experience for a woman. She was designed for it. It has its little discomforts. Do not allow these to detract from the happiness and thrill of your expectation.

5. As soon as you have your physician's permission you may begin reconditioning exercises to snap those stretched abdominal muscles into place.

6. If you HAVE gained weight do not allow those first extra pounds to remain. Some women gain so many pounds with each child and never lose weight between children.

If you would like to have my leaflet "Care During and After Pregnancy" send a stamped, self-addressed envelope with your request for leaflet No. 21 to Josephine Lowman in care of Morning World.

Birthday Party Planned; Temple Baptist Joyous

On the 19th of June in 1946 a group of people met and organized the Temple Baptist Church. Rev. Averett was the first pastor. During these eight years the forty people have grown to a membership of almost 500 and are a progressive wide awake group.

Sunday the church will observe its birthday with a birthday party. Invited attendees are looked for in all departments of the church. Each class in the Sunday school has accepted a goal for attendance and is working hard to reach this goal. A cordial invitation is extended to all friends and visitors to worship with the church Sunday at its birthday party.

A huge birthday cake has been baked and will be cut and a fellowship hour observed at the close of the evening services. You will find a warm, friendly welcome at all the services.

Mr. and Mrs. M. L. Crews, charter members of the church, were married on the 19th of June in 1904 and will observe their wedding anniversary with the church. This year on their 50th wedding anniversary the church will honor them at its birthday party. Mr. Crews is chairman of the deacons and has supervised the building of all recent construction at the church.

Week's Revival Set For Church At East Jena

JENA, La. (Special) — A week-long series of revival services will begin at the East Jena Baptist Church Monday, June 21, and continue through Sunday, June 27, it was announced this week by the Rev. J. R. Miller, pastor.

The Rev. Boatner Spinks, pastor of the Fellowship Baptist Church, will be the visiting speaker during the series of evangelistic services and the pastor and church join in a cordial invitation to the public to visit and worship with them during the revival period.

Services will be held each morning beginning at 9 o'clock, Rev. Miller said. The evening services will begin at 7:30 o'clock with prayer services, followed by the worship service at 8 p. m.

New engine power! New operating economy!

New Chevrolet Trucks... do more work per day... more work per dollar!

You save hours on the road. Thanks to greater acceleration and hill-climbing ability, you can save time without increasing your maximum road speeds.

You save extra trips. That's because of extra load space. New pickup bodies are deeper, new stake and platform bodies wider and longer.

You save time on deliveries. New truck Hydra-Matic transmission saves time and effort at every stop. Optional at extra cost on 1/2-, 3/4- and 1-ton models.

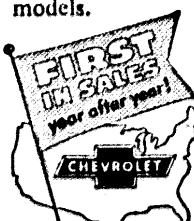

You save on operating costs. The "Thriftmaster 235" engine, the "Loadmaster 235," and the "Jobmaster 261" (optional on 2-ton models at extra cost), deliver greater horsepower plus increased operating economy.

You save with lower upkeep, too. There are heavier axle shafts in two-ton models, bigger clutches in light- and heavy-duty models, stronger frames in all models.

And your savings start the day you buy. Chevrolet, you know, is America's lowest-priced line of trucks!

Come in and see all the wonderful new things you get in America's number one truck.

Now's the time to buy! Get our BIG DEAL! Save with a New Chevrolet!

MEN OF THE FIGHTING LADY—Van Johnson analyses an argument on the part of Dewey Martin in a scene from "Men of the Fighting Lady," M-G-M's starring drama of jet pilot action over Korea, showing at the Jim Theatre today through Wednesday. The picture unfolds a pulse-tugging story of a blinded pilot who is "talked down" into a perilous carrier-deck landing by an air mate. Also starring in the Anasco Color film are Walter Pidgeon, Louis Calhern, Keenan Wynn and Frank Lovejoy.

Team In 'Dragnet'
By BEN ALEXANDER
(Guest Columnist)

HOLLYWOOD, June 19 — The easy-going camaraderie of Jack Webb and myself as the police detective team in "Dragnet" is matched in real life by a close friendship between us.

Our acting association, which began in 1952, in radio and television, is entering its latest phase in Warner's full length motion picture production of the same theme.

I am again portraying the role of Officer Frank Smith to Webb's Sgt. Joe Friday. When Webb made his deal to star in and direct the Warner Color picture it was understood that I would be his chunky cop sidekick.

Our friendship has helped in playing "Dragnet."

We work as a team without any strain, and with full understanding of each other's efforts. We performed together smoothly right from the start of our "Dragnet" association.

But I think our many personal contacts since then have improved the screen relationship. Both Jack and I get fan mail asking if we are really such good pals off the screen. The letter writers must have sensed there was more to our screen partnership than could be brought out in the script.

Webb is the bachelor and I am the family man, and that's the way things were with us during the filming at Warner's. Webb is a frequent visitor at my home where my wife, Lesley and I entertain him.

Webb discusses story and cast with me, and sometimes gets my opinion on a scene that he had played. I am eight years older than Webb and have been acting since 1935, after discharge from the Air Force.

I started as a child artist in the silent "Penrod and Sam" pictures, and dabbled in radio in the late '20's, entering it solidly in 1933. I had bought a motel and two gas stations and was preparing to shake the dust of Hollywood when Webb asked me to play officer Smith in a "Dragnet" show.

"Well, okay," I said reluctantly. "But just one."

Webb was thinking ahead. He didn't want an actor for one show. He wanted a steady in the role. He figured the program would get its dramatic hooks into me, and it did.

After playing Officer Smith just once, I gave up thought of retirement.

The stories are so real I get a deep satisfaction out of playing in them. Smith was the kind of character I'd been wanting to do all my life.

So I sold the cabin cruiser and now work 10 strenuous months each year. The other two I retired to a cabin cruiser—a rented one—moored at Grindstone Joe Island in upper San Francisco Bay.

Now let me tell you something else about Jack Webb and his influence in police circles.

By a curious twist of American vernacular, many policemen now imitate the crisp speech of Webb who, in turn, developed his dialogue from listening to cops.

This phraseological circle came about because police are among his biggest fans. Webb uses in the stories the best of the colorful and succinct expressions he "borrowed" from the conversation of his Los Angeles police friends.

Webb's tensed, rushed way of talking seemed to fit the situations in which real cops found themselves. He has thus helped crystallize the lingo of law enforcers. He also brought back the polite, older-generation term "ma'am," as in "Just give me the facts, ma'am."

It is now a matter of opinion whether police sound like Webb or Webb sounds like the police. But anyone listening to police short wave broadcasts can detect a definite resemblance.

Webb's realistic dialogue gets full play for the first time in Warner's theatrical motion picture production of "Dragnet." Written by this year's Academy award scripter, Richard L. Breen, the screenplay is an attempt at an honest recreation of Los Angeles police at work.

Miss Roundtree, Rev. Strickland Pledge Troth

TALLULAH. A wedding of interest to many friends and relatives in Tallulah, Newellton and elsewhere took place in the Union Church at Newellton on Friday evening at 7:30 when Miss Mildred Louise Roundtree, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William Henry Roundtree was married to Rev. James Arthur Strickland, son of the late Mr. and Mrs. John T. Strickland of San Antonio, Texas. The Rev. C. E. Pickens officiated at the impressive double ring ceremony.

The vows were exchanged in a beautiful setting of white flowers and cathedral candles before a background of pine boughs. A program of organ music by Miss Sarita McDonald preceded the ceremony when she accompanied Miss Helen Logue of Tallulah who sang, "O Perfect Love" and "Because." Pastel shades were featured in the bride's attendants floor length dresses of tulle and lace and worn with matching stoles. They carried painted daisies in baskets. The bridesmaids, Miss Jane Vernon Sevier of Tallulah and Mrs. Henry Wood of Portageville, Mo., wore blue, Miss Bettie Solleau of Ville Platte, La., and Miss Mary Bob Swain of Shreveport, pink, Junior bridesmaids, Ann Colt, cousin of the bride and Carolyn Villyard of New London, Texas, niece of the bridegroom, green. The maid of honor, Miss Wilma Roundtree, sister of the bride was attired in yellow and little Mary Lynn Colt, the flower girl, in pink; the ring bearer, Glenn Ellis Stinson of Natchez, Miss., wore white linen.

The bride, escorted to the altar by her father who gave her in marriage was lovely in her wedding gown of Chantilly lace over satin fashioned with V shaped neck, long sleeves that tapered to petal points over the hands. The fitted bodice had a V shaped waist line in front and back and the full skirt extended into a short train. Her veil was fingertip length and she carried a shower bouquet of lilies of the valley centered with an orchid.

The bridegroom had as his best man his brother, Rev. Eugene Strickland, of Junction, Tex. and the groomsmen were Mr. Jack Folk and Dr. William Morris of Tallulah. Rev. Exell Coon of Seagraves, Tex., and Mr. Carl Bruce of Baton Rouge.

Following the ceremony Mr. and Mrs. Roundtree entertained with a reception at the American Legion Home, where seasonal flowers were attractively arranged at vantage points throughout.

The bride's table was presided over by Mrs. W. L. Colt and Mrs. Frank Owen, aunts of the bride, with Miss Lanette Windham serving the cake. Guests were invited to register in the bride's book by Mrs. Virginia Bruce of Baton Rouge, sister of the bride. Assisting in the courtesies as tea girls were Miss Monette Craig and Miss Ray Rhineberger of Tallulah, Miss Sarita McDonald, Miss Virginia Wilkerson, Miss Vivian White and Miss Martha Netterville.

When the bride left for her wedding trip to Florida she was wearing an embossed cotton suit of bluish gray with navy accessories and the orchid from her bouquet.

Mrs. Strickland is a graduate of the Newellton High School and Louisiana State University School of Education, and a member of Phi Mu Sorority. She taught at the Mamou High School in Evangeline Parish and for the past two years in the Tallulah High School.

Mr. Strickland graduated at the Texas High School, Texas. He is a veteran of World War II, having served as a Lieutenant in the Marine Air Corps with service in the Pacific area. For the past two years he has been pastor of the Tallulah Presbyterian Church.

A number of out of town guests were in attendance at the wedding.

Play Safe Using Pressure Cooker

Points on Steam Pressure Cooker:

For your protection and to insure satisfactory performance the Extension Service recommends you observe these points when using pressure cooker.

Have sufficient water in cooker. Water to the shoulders of a full load of jars to prevent the kettle from boiling dry and to heat and cool jars at a steady rate.

Use rack in kettle and if cooker is tall enough to hold two rows of jars, use a rack to separate them.

Be sure to put cover on correctly, matching arrows or other indicators, and tighten securely.

To seal the cooker having thumbnut closure, grasp opposite pairs of knobs and tighten part way. Continue around cooker top, tightening each opposite pair several times until all have been securely fastened.

Exhausting is done to drive air out of cooker, so that only live steam remains. This is to make sure that temperature inside the cooker is the same as indicated on pressure gauge. To properly exhaust adjust lid when water in cooker is boiling, then open the pet cock. Leave open until steam has been issuing in a steady stream for ten minutes.

Then close pet cock and let pressure rise until gauge registers amount of heat or pressure. Adjust flame to keep pressure steady. If your gauge does not work properly, replace it. A gauge is too cheap to risk one not working properly.

Write down the exact time when processing will be completed. This will prevent mistakes.

When the processing time is up remove from heat. If you are using glass jars, let cooker cool until gauge registers zero. Then open pet cock gradually. If using tin cans, open pet cock as soon as processing time is up.

Open cooker, when gauge indicates zero. Remove cover by allowing steam to escape away from your face and arms.

If cans are used, plunge them into cold water as rapid cooling prevents overcooking the product.

If jars are used, remove jars, finish the seal of those partially sealed. Do not adjust jars which are vacuum seal tops as this will ruin seal.

Cool as quickly as possible to room temperature away from drafts.

Care and Cleaning of Airfoam

Airfoam can be washed with warm water and mild soap. To sterilize, spray or sponge with a mild disinfectant solution and place in a confined space for a few hours. To dry, place in a strong draft.

For spot removal — use soap-suds and water for vegetables stains. For mineral stains, use highly volatile liquid solvents (dry cleaner) lightly and sparingly.

Avoid flooding and never immerse airfoam in them. Avoid ordinary cleaning fluids of the hydro carbon type or others that act as rubber solvents.

Do not expose airfoam directly to sunlight.

Do not store airfoam near hot steam pipes or heating devices.

Amaryllis Lily Seeds

Many of the hybrid lilies have seed pods which may be planted to increase the number of plants and get new varieties. When pod begins to burst open, plant seed in a seed box of good soil and cover with moss — sphagnum or native gray — keep seed box damp and in partial shade — keep damp 14 days.

Plants will be ready to transplant, to a place where they are protected from freeze, in the late fall. In spring transplant them in the open. I have seen them bloom in two years.

See you next Sunday.

It's tough to pay so much for steak these days, but tougher when you pay less.

Barbara Pollard Says Vows By Candlelight

TALLULAH — A lovely candlelight wedding of interest to wide circle of friends in northeast Louisiana was solemnized at the First Baptist Church here on Thursday afternoon at 4:30 when Miss Barbara Nolen Pollard, daughter of Mrs. Edgar Nolen Pollard and the late Mr. Pollard, became the bride of Mr. Richard Putnam Sevier, son of Mr. and Mrs. William Putnam Sevier, Jr. The impressive double ring ceremony was performed by the Rev. Irvin Cheney assisted by the Rev. David E. Holt of Silver City, New Mexico, uncle of the bridegroom.

The sanctuary was beautifully decorated with cathedral candles in floor standards and tall baskets filled with white gladioli and fern. Mrs. J. C. Sherwin rendered the nuptial music and accompanied Miss Loydell Walters of Monroe who sang "The Lord's Prayer" and "O Perfect Love."

The bridesmaids, Miss Dorothy Raxdale of Alexandria, Mrs. Frank Earl Maxwell of West Monroe and Misses Dorothy and Sherrill Sevier, sisters of the bridegroom, wore ballerina length dresses of pale pink embroidered organdy over pink taffeta, with short embroiered organdy jackets having stand-up collars and short sleeves with which they wore matching organdy mitts. Their headresses were double bandeaux to match their dresses and they carried nosegays of pink sweetheart roses. Miss Betty Sue Horn, the maid of honor, wore a costume styled exactly like the maid but of an aqua shade.

Escorted to the altar by her brother, Mr. William Edgar Pollard, who gave her in marriage, the bride was lovely in her wedding gown of white organdy over taffeta fashioned with a V shaped yoke of illusion. The embroidered bodice trimmed with tiny buttons in front and back from the neck to pointed waist line, had short sleeves with which she wore organdy mitts. Side panels of lace trimmed the full skirt which fell into a cathedral train. Her two-tiered finger tip veil of nylon tulle was attached to a crown of pearls and she carried a bouquet of white carnations and forests of stock.

For something old she used a lace handkerchief made by the bridegroom's grandmother and carried by her and his mother at their weddings.

Mr. W. P. Sevier, Jr., served his son as best man and the groomsmen were Bush Joffron of Alexandria, Bill Dimmick of Lake Charles, Charles Whetstone of Woodville, Miss. Eugene Wallace, Pearce Bailey and David E. Holt, Jr., of Silver City, N. M.

A reception was held in the church parlors which was decorated with arrangements of white gladioli, daisies, pink and white roses and stock. Assisting were Miss Frances Baxter, Miss Rosemary Horn, Miss Jane Workman, Mrs. Raymond Rush and Mrs. R.

Alexander. The wedding cake was served by Mrs. Ralph Lee and Mrs. John Carpenter and Miss Jo Lou Swanson of Alexandria had charge of registration in the bride's book. Tea girls assisting in the courtesies were Miss Carol Adams, Miss Carolyn Allen, Miss Sandra Brinson, Miss Barbara Lee, Miss Ann McClure, Miss Betty Jo Oakes, Miss Sylvia Osborne, Miss Dottie Frowine, Miss Jane Vernon Sevier and Miss Mary Ann Girod.

For travel the bride wore a dress of amber colored embroidered imported linen with a matching duster with white accessories and a corsage of white carnations. The couple left for a honeymoon and on their return will reside at Linwood addition in Shreveport.

Out of town attendants at the wedding were Mr. and Mrs. A. B. Cleveland and daughter, Karen of Greenville, Miss., from Oak Grove Mr. and Mrs. Aubrey Greer, Miss Eallie Sue Greer and Jane Greer, Mr. and Mrs. Claxton Wactor, Mr. and Mrs. P. E. Pollard, Charles Pollard, Mr. and Mrs. Harry Pollard and sons, Mike and Tom, Mrs. C. C. Weems of Columbia, Miss., Mrs. Rod Lawson, of Houston, Tex., Mrs. Frances A. Robinson, of Bastrop, from Vicksburg, Mr. and Mrs. Milton Bledenharn, Jr., Mrs. Preston Herring, Miss Sherrill Herring, Mrs. Hugh Johnston, Mrs. Lawrence Clark, Miss Sarah Jane Clark, Mrs. Tommy Morrissey and from Lake Providence, Mr. and Mrs. Rupert Evans, Mr. and Mrs. George Lensing and Mrs. Robert Rush of Jackson, Miss. and Mr. and Mrs. Dan Donald and children of Jennings, Miss Mimi Bean, Miss Peggy Reid, Miss Earleen Cruse, Miss Joe Lou Swanson of Alexandria.

SKYBLUE WON'T ALLOW HER WARRIORS TO TRY TO GUIDE ME TO CIVILIZATION ...

SHE SAYS HEAD-HUNTERS WOULD KILL US!

YOU COMMIT BAD CRIME! WE TAKE YOU TO PRINCESS!

SKYBLUE! TELL YOUR STRONG-ARM GORILLAS TO GET THEIR COTTON-PICKIN' PAWS OFF ME!

THEY SAY I COMMITTED SOME HORRIBLE CRIME!

ALL I DID WAS SEND 5,000 SMOKE-SIGNALS! I THOUGHT MAYBE SOME AIRLINER WOULD SEE THEM!

SO! YOU ADMIT YOUR GUILT?

GUILT?

GUilty! YES...IN WORST WAY!

MY PEOPLE HAVE MANY ANCIENT LAWS WHICH MUST NOT BE BROKEN!

TO INTERFERE WITH NATURAL FLOW OF SMOKE IS HIGH OFFENSE TO OUR GOD OF FIRE!

PUNISHMENT FOR THIS CRIME IS UNBEARABLE!

MOON MULLINS

NOW I'VE DID IT! THAT MEANS SEVEN YEARS' BAD LUCK!

AW, BALONEY! I KNEWED A GUY ONCE WHICH BUSTED A MIRROR AND IT DIDN'T GIVE HIM NO SEVEN YEARS' BAD LUCK.

IT DIDN'T?

NAW, HE GOT BLOWED UP TH' NEXT DAY IN A EXPLOSION.

AH! HERE'S A PIN POINTING TOWARD ME. THAT MEANS WE'LL HAVE GOOD LUCK ALL DAY TODAY, KAYO.

YOU DROPPED SOMETHIN', UNCLE WILLIE.

MY-MY-MY-AND THAT WAS THE LAST HALF DOLLAR I HAD IN THIS WORLD.

THERE GOES YER LID.

OH, FER TH-

LOOK AT THAT HAT! AFTER THIS, YOU BIG BOOB, YOU WATCH WHERE YOU'RE GOING OR I'LL-

YEAH-YO'LL WHAT?

OR I'LL TIE A STRING ON MY HAT IN THE FUTURE, SIR.

NOW, THERE WENT MY WATCH TSK-TSK--THAT DIDN'T DO IT ANY GOOD.

POW!

NOW WHAT?

NOTHIN' MUCH, ONLY UNCLE WILLIE THOUGHT IF HE PICKED UP A PIN HE'D HAVE GOOD LUCK, AND HE LOST ALL HIS MONEY AND BUSTED HIS WATCH, HAT AND A COUPLA RIBS DOIN' IT.

OF ALL TH' DOPES!

IS THAT SO? WELL, I GOT TH' PIN DIDN'T I?

New Colgate Dental Cream with GARDOL*

CLEANS YOUR BREATH...

Works instantly to stop BAD BREATH! One brushing with New Colgate Dental Cream leaves your mouth cleaner, fresher for 12 hours or more—helps keep you socially acceptable. Tests show Colgate's stops bad breath instantly in 7 out of 10 cases that originate in the mouth.

while it GUARDS YOUR TEETH!

Works constantly to stop TOOTH DECAY! One brushing with New Colgate Dental Cream guards against tooth decay for 12 hours or more. Night and morning brushings guard your teeth all day—all night. In this way, Colgate's Gardol works around the clock to stop the action of decay-causing enzymes. In full-year clinical tests, X rays showed far fewer cavities for the hundreds of people in the group using Colgate Dental Cream with Gardol. In fact, no new cavities whatever for 4 out of 5.

GARDOL
Colgate's miracle ingredient makes it doubly effective!

HOW GARDOL WORKS: Every time you brush your teeth with New Colgate Dental Cream, Gardol binds itself to your teeth...remains active for 12 hours or more. That's why Gardol, Colgate's long-lasting anti-enzyme ingredient, gives you the surest protection against tooth decay ever offered by any toothpaste—leaves your mouth cleaner, fresher for 12 hours or more! Gardol's protection won't rinse off, won't wear off, all day. Thus, morning and night brushings with New Colgate Dental Cream with Gardol give continuous protection around the clock.

ONLY COLGATE'S GIVES YOU FULL GARDOL PROTECTION AGAINST TOOTH DECAY!

BOYS, I'M GETTING WORRIED. HERE WE'VE GONE TO A LOT OF EXPENSE GETTING CLOD HILL SUCKED UP TO COURT THAT GIRL, RAIN MAKER, AND WHAT HAPPENS?

WE DON'T KNOW. HAVEN'T HEARD A WORD FROM HIM.

LEAVE IT TO GOOD OLD CLOD. HE'LL BRING THAT RAIN MAKER BACK.

HE'D BETTER!

AFTER ALL THE MONEY WE SPENT DRESSING HIM UP HE OUGHT TO BE IRRESISTIBLE.

I GIVE HIM A SUIT OF CLOTHES!

HE'S GOT MY SPORTS CAR!

I GIVE HIM A FREE HAIRCUT!

I'M LOOKING FOR LUCILLE SWEENEY, THE RAIN MAKER.

MY STARS! ISN'T HE DRESSED UP?

LOOK AT HIS SNAZZY CONVERTIBLE.

HE MUST BE RICH.

CAN WE HELP YOU SIR?

I'M LOOKING FOR A GIRL NAMED LUCILLE SWEENEY.

LET'S RIDE UP AND DOWN THE STREET. MAYBE WE CAN FIND HER.

I'LL HOLD YOUR FLOWERS FOR YOU.

I'LL HOLD THE BOX OF CANDY.

I JUST LOVE YOUR CUTE CONVERTIBLE.

WHY DO YOU WANT TO FIND THAT GIRL, RAIN MAKER?

I RUN THE WATERWORKS IN GORNER CITY. THEY'RE GONNA FIRE ME IF I DON'T MARRY HER AND BRING HER BACK.

I HAVE AN IDEA. LET'S HAVE A PICNIC AND WE'LL LOOK FOR THE RAIN MAKER LATER.

WONDERFUL. I KNOW JUST THE PLACE.

ISN'T HE JUST TOO DARLING FOR WORDS?

TUM OH, DIDUMS MUST EAT ONE MORE ITSY-BITSY PIECE OF HIS DELICIOUS CANDY.

WHO WANTS TO FIND THAT FAT GIRL, RAIN MAKER, ANYHOW?

GOOD OLD CLOD NEVER HAD IT SO GOOD.

TELEGRAM FROM CLOD! HE'S COMING HOME MARRIED!

WOW! GOOD OLD CLOD!

I KNEW HE WOULDN'T LET US DOWN!

NOW WE'LL HAVE PLENTY OF RAIN!

WE SHOULD HAVE KNOWN BETTER THAN TO SEND THAT LUNKHEAD TO MARRY THE RAIN MAKER!

GIMME BACK MY SUIT!

PAY ME FOR THAT HAIRCUT, YOU DOUBLE-CROSSER!

YOU'RE FIRED!

GET OUT OF MY SPORTS CAR!

AT A BENGLI WATERFRONT NIGHT CLUB--THE FAVORITE ENTERTAINER--JADE.

DR. HEG? YOU SENT ME A NOTE ASKING TO SPEAK TO ME?

YES, I'M LOOKING FOR INFORMATION. I'LL PAY YOU WELL. SIT DOWN, MY DEAR.

I'M WRITING A HISTORY ABOUT THE JUNGLE PATROL. IF YOU CAN FIND OUT ONE FACT FOR ME, I'LL PAY YOU A THOUSAND DOLLARS, JADE.

GOOD GOLLY! ARE YOU SOME KIND OF SPY?

A SPY? DEAR ME, NO! JUST A PULL HISTORIAN. NOW--I BELIEVE YOU KNOW A LIEUTENANT SMYTH OF THE PATROL?

SURE. WHAT DO YOU WANT ME TO ASK SMITTY?--FOR A THOUSAND DOLLARS--

OH, SMITTY--WHY WON'T YOU TELL ME WHO YOUR REAL COMMANDER IS?

HONEST, JADE, I CAN'T--BECAUSE I DON'T KNOW. NONE OF US DO.

EVERY MORNING, THE COLONEL AND I GO IN THERE TO SEE IF THERE ARE ANY ORDERS FROM HIM--WHOEVER HE IS--

HOW THRILLING! WHAT'S INSIDE--?

NOTHING--I MEAN--I'M NOT SUPPOSED TO TALK ABOUT IT.

PLEASE, SMITTY--SHOW ME INSIDE--PLEASE--OH, PLEASE, DARLING--
